NO IMPORTANT MOVEMENTS ARE MADE IN EUROPEAN WAR TODAY

Germans Content Themselves With Masked Changes in Position to Feel Out Defense.

BOMBARDMENT HAS NO EFFECT

Belgian War Office Says That Liege Forts Are Holding Out Against German Fire.

EARLIER ATTACKS CHECKED

Ferocious Assaults of Wednesday and Thursday Fail to Develop Belgians Weakness.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, August 14.—Brussels newspapers tonigth print rumors said to be attributed to German prisoners that Gereral Von Emmich, the commander whose attempts to take the Liege forts failed, killed himself following receipt of rebuke from the general staff.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, Aug. 14.—An official statement issued from the war office at noon says:

"The situation throughout Belgium continues satisfactory. There have been no important developments today. The German columns are containing themselves with masked movements designed to ascertain the strength of the Belgian defenses and there has been no serious fighting. There have been no important movements today.

"The Liege forts still hold out and the German bombardment of them has proved ineffective. Germans are still in Liege but the civil government of the city is not being interfered with."

The German advance is checked all along its advance line in Belgium, according to the war office. The reconnaissance in force on Wednesday and Thursday failed to develop a weakness in the Belgian front and the enemy is apparently awaiting arrival of supply trains. Belgian attempts to cut the German line of communication has failed, but the Belgian war office insists that the Germans have been forced back along the Dutch frontier and are now in danger of being driven over it and forced to disarm because of the proclamation of dutch ntutrality.

The Liege forts remains intact with the defenders having the best of the artillery duel still in progress. Liege city is still occupied by the Germans and is reported quiet.

The German cavalry advance renewed the raids on the Belgian lines at half a dozen points today but the war office officials claim that in every instance they failed to penetrate the advanced Belgium position. The raids, it is admitted, have been for the purpose of feeling out the Belgian front but the enemy was unable to locate any weak spots. The Belgian sero corps is proving of inestimable value to the field forces. Every German move is anticipated and because of the excellent transport arrangements, it is possible for the Belgian field commanders to meet the Germans more than half way in every attack.

Streams of Belgian and German wounded are being brought here from the front. The trains have been useless and an auto corps organized by the Red Cross is being used, every available auto in this city having been impressed for that purpose.

LULL IN ACTUAL FIGHTING FALLS

War Experts Feel that Sudden Stop of Activities is Ominous, Portending Big Battle.

GERMANS NEED SUPPLIES

Allied Armies Are in Position Waiting For the Assault—Location is Not Known.

(By United Press.)

London, August 14.—There was a lull in the actual news of fiighting today that even the war experts admitted seems ominous. The German advance was temporarily halted in Belgium plainly, waiting for the coming up of the main infantry strength and the supply trains. The latter is badly needed.

The German army has been unable to live off the country and its commissary has proved unequal to the sudden strain. So the offense movement is halted until the lines of communication can be restored.

The war office at Brussels admitted knowledge of an expected immediate resumption of hostilities. The Belgians have done their best, but with the German infantry, the kaiser's most feared weapon, engaged in force, there will be worked for the allied army.

No one doubts that the allies are in position waiting the German assault. Just where is known to the army chiefs alone. But that it is in strength massed behind the Belgian cavalry curtain is certain.

ALL AMERICANS IN BERLIN SAFE

Ambassador Cables State Department Today he Will Send Special Train Tomorrow.

IT WILL CARRY REFUGEES

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—Ambassador Gerrad of Berlin today cabled the state department, stating that all Americans are safe. He said that a great meeting was held to extend encouragement to Americans. He reported travel to the south impossible but said he was sending a special train with refugees to Holland tomorrow. All Americans are listed by card index. He reported boats from Holland tomorrow. All Americans are listed by card index. He reported boats from Holland to England still running.

He said the American association of commence and trade of Berlin requests Americans to "be careful in giving credence to war reports." He said the city of Berlin was perfectly quiet with food prices normal.

CROSS BORDER OF SWITZERLAND

German Troops Step Over Boundary And French Declare it Violation of Swiss Neutrality.

STATEMENT ISSUED TODAY

French War Office Says Its Men Never Pursue Their Advantages Across the Frontier.

(By United Press.)

Paris, August 14.—The French government today made the direct charge that Germany is violating the neutrality of Switzerland. It claims, in an official statement issued this afternoon that numerous German mounted patrols routed by French cavalry columns have crossed the border into Switzerland. The official announcement continues:

"These scouting parties of the enemy have not hesitated to violate the Swiss territory in efforts to escape from capture by the French cavalry attacking them. The French commanding officers, however, have the strictest orders not to pursue their advantage across the Swiss frontier and as a result many of the German patrols escaped almost certain capture."

It is announced that the French government will direct the attention of the Swiss government to this violation of its territory.

This announcement, and a claim that the French army which is holding the passes through the Vosgee Mountains have defeated all attempts on part of the Germans to take the railroad ways through the ranges, was all the censor permitted to become known today. In the Vosges mountains it is claimed that the sweeping victory occurred. The German columns from Neusheim it is stated, attempted to stake the St. Marie and Le Bonhomme passes which were taken by the French a week ago. The German attack was in force according to the reports here but the French had mounted artillery at all of the approaches and the Germans failed utterly in an attempt to storm the French positions.

According to the reports made public at the war office one entire German division with artillery was entrapped and after being badly cut up by a deluge of fire from the rapid fire guns was forced to surrender. This victory is declared to have taken place near the entrance to St. Marie Pass.

It is considered certain here that the fighting in the department of Neurthe Et Moselle continues, but all particulars are withheld by the government. The only reference permitted was in a statement issued by the war office which said:

"Skirmishing between the opposing armies along the entire frontier continues. The French positions have maintained at every point and organized attempts to penetrate the frontier have been beaten off with accompanying heavy losses. In every engagement, the superiority of the French artillery and cavalry have been thoroughly demonstrated."

7 GERMAN SHIPS ARE SUNK

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 14.—The Chronicle correspondent at West Hartlepool wires that the captain of the Danish steamer Hulda Nearsk told him that he passed seven sunken German ships off Spurn Head at the Northeast entrance to the Humber. The official press bureau says that it has no knowledge of any German ships sunk in that vicinity.

ASK FOR HELP AT WASHINGTON

Relatives of Girls in Coleman Party Address Letter to State Department.

DR. W. S. COLEMAN WRITES IT

Some Concern Felt For Them Because no Word Has Been Received Since War Broke.

Indicating that they feel some concern about the plight of the party of women tourists conducted by Miss Henrietta Coleman of this city and now in Europe, a request has been forwarded to Washington asking that the state department make some inquiry and attempt to locate them.

Dr. W. S. Coleman, brother of Miss Coleman, has written to the state department asking that its agents try to learn something of the whereabouts of the party of women. Dr. Coleman said in the letter that relatives of the women would bear all expenses. He requested that the state department make inquiry at once if it felt that it could do any good.

An itinerary of the Coleman party was sent with the letter so that the state department would know how to go about making an investigation.

For several days Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Ong, of Columbus, Ind., parents of Miss Carrie Ong, who is in the Coleman party, have been worried about the whereabouts of the girls. They fully expected word most any day that they were safe but as the days passed and no news was received from them except letters and cards mailed before the war broke, anxiety has been increased.

The party should have arrived in Paris last Tuesday. Relatives are inclined to believe that if they did get to Paris on schedule that their names would have been mentioned in the list of American tourists who are safe in Paris and who have registered at the American embassy. But each day as new names are added to the list, the name of not one of the members of the Coleman party has appeared.

It was felt there was a chance that the girls never attempted to reach Paris when they learned the true condition of things. In that event, it was believed they would get to the nearest Italian port from which a vessel was sailing and come home. But relatives feel certain that if the girls had sailed for home, they would have cabled some word of their intentions before leaving Europe.

All these things combined lead to the belief that the party is stranded some place in Europe. The theory is advanced by many that the girls would never leave Italy when they learned what transpired the first few days of August. Italy is still neutral and there has not been much semblance of war in that country althought the army has been ordered mobilized to hold preserve Italy's declaration of neutrality.

INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—A grand jury in federal court today began an investigation into increased food prices. Local heads of packing companies, wholesale groceries and hotel owners were called. Secretary of Commerce Redfield today ordered his special agents throughout the country to make a thorough probe of the food prices which are being charged.

JAIL SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED

Emanuel Dunwoody, However, is Fined Five Dollars and Costs For Cutting Francis Joyce.

INTENT CHARGE UNPROVED

Joyce Says His Throat Was Cut While he Was Asleep and Dunwoody Denied His Guilt.

Emanuel Dunwoody was fined five dollars and costs and sentenced to ten days in jail this morning by Mayor Bebout. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior. Dunwoody was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Francis "Plug" Joyce but Mayor Bebout held that the intent was not proved.

Dunwoody was arrested following a cutting scrape in the Harry Pea barn in West First street. Joyce was found with his throat badly cut and suspicion rested on Dunwoody. Joyce told a very strange story on the witness stand and was a very unwilling witness. According to Joyce, the three men, Jesse Ridout, Dunwoody and himself had gone to the barn to take a drink of whiskey, which was furnished by Ridout.

Joyce said one drink called for another and then he remembered having an argument. He stated that he went to sleep and must have been asleep about two hours when he awakened to find his throat had been cut. Joyce stated that he did not know who did the cutting and would not say that it was Dunwoody.

Jesse Ridout told the court that he went to the barn but did not go in with the other two. They drove to the place in Ridout's rig, and one of the peculiar things about it is that Ridout walked to his home in Jersey City, leaving the horse and wagon at the barn.

He stated that he was first told of the cutting by his wife after he had been home about one-half hour. He testified that Dunwoody and Joyce had gone into the barn together and he did not remember seeing either come out.

Alex Newman, who lives near the barn, testified that he saw Joyce come out with his throat cut. He said that he found a half-pint bottle of whiskey with the cork out on the floor and that some of the "booze" was running out when he picked it up.

Neither Ridout or Newman knew positively who did the cutting. Chief Rosencrance testified to a conversation he had with Dunwoody in the jail. He stated that Dunwoody in talking of the fight said, "It was an old grudge and I worked on him before he work on me." Rosencrance filed the affidavit against Dunwoody, but could not state positively that it was Dunwoody who did the cutting and was relying on the statement that Dunwoody had made to him.

Policeman Hunt told of arresting Dunwoody. When found Dunwoody had on a different hat and his shirt was covered with blood. His hat was found at the barn. The defense introduced no testimony and George W. Young, who defended Dunwoody, stated to the court that the officers had surmized at most of what they had given and did not know it to be a fact that Dunwoody did the cutting. He held that the state did not have enough evidence to bind Dunwoody over to the circuit court and was sustained by Mayor Bebout.

Mrs. Susan Tingley, one of the city's oldest and best known women, is very sick at her home in West Fifth street.

NIGHT FAIR IS EXPECTED TO AID

Innovation at Annual Event, When Free Attractions Will be Given Every Evening, Will be Popular.

ARRANGEMENTS ABOUT MADE

Work Started Today Erecting Pole For Lighting Grounds—Free Attractions and Concessions.

Plans for the Rush county fair, week after next, are gradually taking shape and Secretary Thomas stated today that all of the free attractions and most of the concessions will have been contracted for by tomorrow night. From all indications the fair will be the best ever held and the night feature is expected to be a big drawing card.

Now that the contract for the lights has been let arrangements for the night fair can be completed and details worked out. The Capp Plumbing and Electrical company started work this morning erecting the poles and stringing the wire for the electric lights. The current will be obtained from the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company. Twenty poles will be used and the grounds will be well lighted.

The tract in front of the grand stand will be especially well lighted as it is here that some of the features of the night fair will be given. The Capp company will also sell lights to the concessions if they desire electricity. The fair association only lights the grounds and the stands will furnish their own light.

Tuesday evening will see the opening of the night fair. At this time the Chenhall Presbyterian Boy's band of Shelbyville, which has contracted to furnish the music for the fair, will give the first of two concerts. The concerts will be given in front of the grand stand.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights a horse show will be held. The programs each night will be changed. Fancy driving and the showing of horses will be a part of the programs. It is not known when the second concert by the band will be given.

Among the concessions already contracted for are Buckskin Ben's Wild West show. This show is the largest show making the fair this year and is considered a good attraction. The show carries its own band and concerts will be given in Rushville every day. A large motordome, ferris wheel and merry-go-round have all agreed to come. There will be no night fair on Friday as this is the last day and the stand men are all anxious to move to the next fair on this night.

Work was started this morning on

Some people's idea of co-operation is to let the other fellow shake the trees, while they eat the apples.

True co-operation is a pull together for the success goal. When national advertisers use the newspapers to create a demand for their products, shrewd merchants co-operate by showing the goods. It is a "pull together" that means increased sales and satisfied patrons.

BARBECUE IS SMALL AFFAIR

Demonstration at Vincennes, Long Planned by Progressives, is Failure as to Crowd.

NO MORE THAN 1,000 THERE

Indianapolis Star _Predicts _Before Gathering That 10,000 People Would be Present.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—The Bull Moose barbeque held at Vincennes Wednesday for the progressives of the First and Second districts and at which Albert J. Beveridge was the headliner was a great disappointment to Beveridge and everybody else connected with it. The barbecue had been extensively advertised for weeks. The Indianapolis Star has been saying that it would be one of the biggest political meetings ever held in the state, predicted that the attendance would be not less than 10,000.

To the dismay of the progressive leaders the attendance did ont exceed 1,000. The Star yesterday places the crowd at 2,000, but everybody knows the Star places the attendance at every Beveridge meeting from two to five times as large as it was. Instead of the 5,000 people that were expected on special trains, fewer than 400 came. The gigantic automobile parade that had been advertised was the greatest disappointment of all. Only twenty-eight automobiles could be mustered for the demonstration.

That the meeting was a disappointment is plainly revealed by the following statement which the Star prints in an effort to account for the small attendance:

The three happenings which kept the barbecue from being a record breaker as a Knox county political meeting were: A street car strike was declared in Vincennes this morning: the date of a farmers' union meeting set for Aug. 15 at Monroe, in Knox county, had been changed to Aug. 12; a bridge over the Patoka River on the road from Princeton to Vincennes was placarded as unsafe and closed to Princeton progressives, who in automobile were on their way to the meeting, and who were compelled to return to Princeton to take another road, causing an extra journey of fifteen miles.

RAINS CHANGE CROP OUTLOOK

Parched Earth Drinks up Moisture Which Starts All Vegetation to Growing Once More.

RYE FOR WINTER PASTURE

The splendid rains of the last few days have changed the crop outlook in Rush county, the entire state and other states and farmers are very much encouraged. The rain did the corn an immense amount of good, it is said, notwithstanding the fact that some thought the crop was past being benefited. All crops are taking on a different aspect. The shortness of the hay and rough feed crops has made the farmers do some planning and it is reported that some of them are now seeding their corn to rye for fall and winter pasture. In Kansas and other of the western states where they have been having a drought, the outlook is now much brighter since the rains. With plenty of moisture from this time on, it is thought the fall outlook will be a great deal more encouraging to the farmers than has been the summer outlook.

TOWN HAS A SENSATION

Andersonville Wrought up Over the Finding of Dead Baby.

Andersonville has a sensation which the Andersonville Herald this week displayed in big headlines. It portrayed the fact that a dead infant had been found on the Senour farm a mile east of Andersonville. Mr. and Mrs. Woodson O. Clark and family live on the place. Mrs. Ann Clark and Mrs. Louisa Vail were walking through the woods when they found the partially decayed body of the infant wrapped in a newspaper. The Andersonville Herald presents many conjectures regarding the find.

NO MONEY ORDERS FOR TWO COUNTRIES

Uncle Sam Cuts Off Relations With Austria and Belgium Because of European War.

NOTICE FROM DEPARTMENT

Postmaster Hunt has been advised that money order exchange between the United States and Austria has ceased and has been notified to issue no money orders on Austrian office and to pay no orders issued by offices in that country. Until the outbreak of the European war the local office issued a very considerable number of Austrian money orders each month, the larger number to employes of the plate glass works. The suspension of exchange was announced by a cablegram from the Austrian administration.

Exchanges between this country and Belgium were annulled by the postal administration of that country last week.

Orders, however, continue to be issued on office in the British Isle, England, France, Germany and other European countries, under careful scrutiny to determine that they are not to be used for speculative purpose through the advance in the rates of exchange, and orders to the amount of $100 may be issued without question in favor of any American subject desiring to return to America.

BABIES MEDALS ARRIVE TODAY

Arrangements Have Been Completed For Contest Which Will be Held at Rush County Fair.

PRELIMINARY WEDNESDAY

Health of the Nation is Built on the Health of Each Baby—Can Build up Nation.

The medals for the better babies contest which will be held in connection with the Rush county fair arrived today. There is a bronze medal for the best girl baby and one for the best boy baby.

There is no red tape about entering babies, contrary to the impression that has gained credence. The preliminary when the examination will be held at the Graham school building will begin at nine o'clock next Wednesday morning. Mothers are urged to have their babies there by that time. That is all that is required to enter.

Concerning the better babies contest at the Rush county fair week after next, the preliminary contest of which will be held at the Graham school building next Wednesday, the following has been given out by the committee in charge:

Have you a baby in your house?

Or has your next door neighbor a baby of whom you are fond?

If so, you will be interested in the better babies contest to be held at the Rush county fair week after next.

Why?

Because the public in general is just beginning to realize that a great deal depends upon just your baby or your neighbor's baby. The health of the nation is built on the health of each baby, and physicians will tell you that with proper care and feeding of children the entire health of the nation can be built up. Healthy babies mean healthy children in the public schools. Thus the expense of trying to educate defective children is reduced for the tax payer. Healthy children in the school room grow into healthy, vigorous, satisfied workers in the industries and professions. And best of all, healthy babies mean peace and happiness in the home, and care-free parents.

The better babies contest proves these statements and more.

If your baby is pretty well, and pretty good and cries very little, you may think it an all-round good baby. But if you bring it to the contest, you will learn how it can be made a perfectly well baby, a baby who does not cry except when actually hurt—an all-round better and best baby.

That is what better babies contests are for. The babies are entered just as they used to be at the old fashioned baby shows. But there are the similarity stops. For at the better babies contest, physicians examined the babies for physical and mental development, enter their records on better babies standard score cards and advise parents as to how the condition of the babies can be improved.

When this is all over, the judges step in and award prizes to the babies making the highest score, and other doctors tell mothers how to get the babies who did not win prizes into fine condition for the next contest. It's the most cheering and hopeful contest imaginable and even the babies seem to understand and enjoy it.

CORPS OF GRAVE DIGGERS

Germany Now Bears This Unique Distinction in the World War.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, Aug. 14.—The German army is the only one engaged in the European war having a special corps of grave diggers accompanying the troops in the field. The grave diggers corps was formed during the France-Prussian war of 1870. All German soldiers wear around their necks a label bearing their name, rank and regiment.

MAY SHIP APPLES FOR THE SHOW NOW

Growers Receive Word That Indiana Refrigerating Company Will Keep Them in Storage.

CATALOGUES BY OCTOBER 1

According to letters which have been received by Rush county apple growers from Benjamin W. Douglas, of Trevlas, Ind., superintendent of the Indiana apple show, the promoters of the show have made arrangements with the Indiana Refrigerating company of Indianapolis to store fruit for the apple show without cost. Farmers who contemplate making a display at the apple show may ship their apples just as soon as they are picked and not run the risk of them rotting between the time of picking and the show.

Mr. Douglas advises that growers ship their apples in boxes or barrels, not baskets, and that each apple be wrapped in several sheets of paper to avoid bruising. A single bruise will disqualify an otherwise perfect specimen. The final premium list and catalogue will be issued about the first of October.

Claim of French War Office Regarding Fighting at Vosges

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 14.—Fighting of the fiercest character in the passes of the Vosges where the Germans have been making a vain attempt to retake the routes lost to the French invaders last Sunday, is reported by the war office. The French military chiefs claim a sweeping victory for the French troops and that an entire German division, surrounded in the mountains, was compelled to surrender after a brisk engagement in which many were killed.

LARGE PIECE OF PLASTERING FALLS

Ceiling of Corridor on Third Floor of Court House is Believed Unsafe as Mishap Proved.

CHANDELIER IS TORN DOWN

The ceiling on the corridor of the third floor of the court house under the large dome is believed unsafe and unless the commissioners make the necessary repair sooner someone is likely to be killed or seriously injured by falling plaster. This afternoon a large piece of plaster paris weighing several hundred pounds fell to the floor. The plaster paris was in a form used in the decorating and fell a distance of ten or twelve feet.

The plastering fell in one large piece and took a chandelier off the wall. The piece fell just at the head of the stairs. The crash was heard all over the court house and men in the offices rushed out, thinking that the roof was falling in. Several other large pieces of plastering are ready to fall and large cracks are noticeable all through the ceiling and side walls.

ITALY IS OUT WITH WARNING TO TURKEY

Will Not Allow German Warships, Reported to Have Been Bought, Used in Mediterranean.

TURKEY SAID TO OWN VESSELS

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 14.—Italy intends to warn Turkey that the German warships Goeben and Breslau must not be used in the Mediterranean, according to a news dispatch reaching here from Rome today. The two German ships are now in the Dardanelles and are reported to have been purchased by Turkey.

A news agency dispatch from Paris is stated that the Goeben and Breslau arrived in the Dardanelles flying the Turkish flag. The German fittings of the warships were reported to have been dismantled.

INDICATE SEA FIGHT TOOK PLACE

Two German Cruisers, Badly Battered, Enter port at Hong Kong—Details Are Refused.

WITH FRENCH OR ENGLISH?

Tokio, Aug. 14.—That the German cruisers Scharnhorst and Oneisenau have been in battle at sea with either the English cruisers Minotaur and Hampshire or the French cruisers Duplex and Montcalm is indicated by reports from Hong Kong that two badly battered cruisers have entered that port. The Censor refuses to permit details to be communicated but as they entered Hong Kong harbor they must be either French or English and those named above are known to have been searching for the German cruisers for several days.

LOADED WITH AMERICANS

Harve, France, Aug. 14.—Loaded with Americans, the French liner Chicago cleared from here today enroute to New York. The France of the same line will sail late today. On board are hundreds of American refugees from the continent who have been held in Harve for the last two weeks waiting until the French fleet, operating in the Atlantic, reported the ocean lanes clear of German warships.

SAYS CLAIMS ARE UNFOUNDED

Doubly Censored Dispatch from Berlin Today Assert Stories are Without Foundation

THEIR LOSSES ANTICIPATED

Fact That Movement Toward Paris Proceeds Indicates, Germans Say That Reports Are Untrue

Berlin, Aug. 13.—(Delayed and Doubly Censored)—The German advance is proceeding as planned. Whatever losses the army has sustained in the operations on the French border and in Belgium, were anticipated.

The German forward movement continues along the very lines selected by the general staff. It was expected that there would be losses but the very fact that the forward movement proceeds and that the army is pushing on towards Paris, shows that the claims that the great German disasters are unfounded.

French and Belgian prisoners of war are being sent to the concentration camps. No details of the army positions are known and the information regarding the fighting already in progress is confined to meagre official bulletins in which facts concerning forces engaged and positions attacked are withheld.

So severe is the censorship that the location of all regiments is known only to the war office and the members of the general staff.

TALKS TO "BIG BUSINESS'

President Wilson Meets With Representatives Today.

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—Greeting "big business representatives this afternoon during the recess of the treasury foreign trade conference, President Wilson at the white house told them he believed the crisis in America has passed. He also declared that from this spirit of common efforts in a great national cause will come something worth while for the future.

"We have been face to face with a very critical circumstance," the president said, "but I believe that time has now passed and that the period of steady sensible concerted action has come."

OF COURSE, MISS "RUSHVILLE" HAS NOT LEAST INTEREST IN THE CRUEL WAR

She is Not Worrying Even Though Cosmetics Are Raising in Price Very Steadily.

MUCH OF THEM ARE IMPORTED

Miss "Rushville" does not care for the cruel war, it is quite true. It makes no difference to her if the different peoples of Europe want to jump at one another's throats.

"War is terrible, to say the least, and I don't like to think of such stupid things," says the charming miss as she arches her eyebrows, penciled a little perhaps, curves her cupid's bow mouth, the lips of which it must be confessed are just a trifle bit more violent in color than nature designed them, and wreathes her "peaches and cream" complexion in a delicious smile.

Not to intimate, of course, that Miss "Rushville," nor yet indeed, Mrs.. "Rushville," are addicted to the use of vulgar paint. Well, anyone would say not, but—.A little discreet application of a lip stick and a delicate touch of rouge over a cheek treatment of cold cream does add so to one's look, and the men do get so particular some times nowadays.

According to her own confession, Miss "Richmond" can not concern herself much in the war, yet when Father "Rushville" pays the druggist next month, he will experience a start and wonder how many girls he has been supplying paint for.

For milady's cosmetics have increased in price all the way from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. as a direct result of the war. Most of the toilet waters, perfumes, sachet powders, lip sticks, rouge and even face powders used by our American women come from France and Germany.

But this is not all. Almost all of the dapper dressmakers and designers of Paris have gone to war leaving only the old men of the profession to supply the Yankee ladies with their exquisite imported French scenery.

Many a poor, "cokehead" will experience a hard winters unless the big struggle is brought to a quick close. Cocaine has increased in price 75 per cent. "Dope" of all sorts will be immeasurably higher because the vast majority of these drugs are imported from Germany.

An advance is reported on all drugs imported from across the water. Those used as narcotics such as hypodermis, codeine, diacetyl, morphine, diacetyl heroin and morphine atrophine, are all for more expensive.

Druggists fear they will be cut off from many tinctures and fluid extracts used in the manufacture of drugs because of the trouble in Germany for much of this supply is imported from Germany. Such fluids as bachu, ergot and aconite, which are used in many prescriptions also have made a great advance in price.

The American Steel and Wire company has filed suit against James T. Irvine, on a note and account, demanding $1014.56.

Straws and Straws

The straws continue to roll in until there are several stacks by this time showing the trend of the political sentiment. The state-wide primary in Ohio, Tuesday of this week proved the practical elimination of the Progressive party as a political factor just as did the state-wide primary in Kentucky August 1.

Both in Kentucky and Ohio, as elsewhere in primaries, registrations and special elections have revealed, the Progressive vote is disappearing. In Kentucky, where the Progressives had a full slate of candidates, less than three thousand votes were cast in the whole state.

The really surprising feature of the Ohio primary was that the Republican vote in that state, in which Wilson received 223,152 votes, Taft 277,066 and Roosevelt 229,327 votes in 1912, greatly exceeded the democratic vote, while the Progressive vote practically disappeared, demonstrating the disappearance of the party as a factor in Ohio politics. In Hamilton county, for instance, the Republican vote reached nearly 23,000, while the Democratic vote only about 10,000, and the Progressive vote 500. At Cleveland the Republicans cast 20,000 votes, while the Progressive vote slipped from 33,824 in 1912 to 2,000, the Democrats polling 15,000 votes. This was an increase of 6,000 in the Republican vote over 1912, and a slip of 30,000 in the Democratic vote.

The Republicans were handicapped by a decision of Secretary of State Graves that 1912 Progressive voters could not vote in the Republican primary. This kept from the polls thousands of Progressives, it is estimated, who otherwse would have turned out and voted the Republican ticket, and it is evident that many voted the Republican ballot despite the ruling of the secretary of state.

Commenting on these returns the Muncie Press says, this being exactly in line wth the result of every electon, primary and registration held in the country since 1912, with the single exception of the race for governor of Massachusetts in 1913, it is now time for Senator Beveridge and his organs to start up the whine that the infamous Republican politicians are misrepresenting the condition of the Progressive party which has its full quota of generals, colonels and captains, and is lacking in nothing but a rank and file.

By the way, in Massachusetts, the one place in which the Progressive did make a showing in 1912, the Republicans were far in the lead on every office except governor, the 1913 candidate for governor has declined to run again, and the Progressive state organization has gone broke and is paying out at fifty cents on the dollar. So it is really a shame to mention that exception.

When Senator Beveridge and the Indiana Shaferpapers pull the 1912 election figure and talk about that representing the present status of the Progressive party they are evidently assuming that the people they are addressing are a bunch of ignoramuses who do not read the newspapers and therefore have no idea of what has been happening in this country in the last eighteen months. This might go in Santo Domingo, but not in Indiana. The fact is that the Bull Moose bosses know the real situation themselves, but are merely counting on roping in enough dupes to put friend Taggart and his crowd over the line in November, as per contract.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Acts of Ommission.

(Kokomo Tribune.)

It has been noticeable recently that the Indianapolis Star shies at reports of returns from legalized state-wide primary election. Readers of that newspaper, therefore, will be not greatly surprised to find that in its report of the Ohio primary election held Tuesday the Star omits mention of the fact that the progressive party participated in the voting in that important primary election. From the Cincinnati Enquirer one may learn that there were precious few progressive votes cast, the number being indefinitely given as "a few thousand" in the entire state. Possibly on this understanding, that the vote was quite too small to be worth reporting, the Star may be justified in side-stepping the disagreeable subject and saying nothing. In a few days the full returns will be officially determined and it is possible the Star may by that time have acquired sufficient courage to tell the truth about it.

Hugh Th. Miller.

(The Batesville Tribune.)

Hugh Th. Miller, Republican candidate for United States senator, is a man possessed of those sterling qualities that inspire confidence and win respect. In all his relations in life he has practiced rather than preached the doctrine of the "square deal."

The writer served two terms in the State Senate while Mr. Miller presided over the body. No fairer presiding officer ever held the gavel or decided parlimentary questions in that or any other body. A Republican in the strictest and best sense of that term, he never took advantage of his position to discriminate against a Democrat or to favor a Repubican because of his political affiliations.

Every Democrat in the senate respected him for his impartiality and acknowledged his ability as a presiding officer.

Should Hugh Th. Miller be elected to the United States Senate by the voters of Indiana, the people will have an able representative in the highest legislative body in the world, a man of clean life, public and private, a scolary gentleman, fearless, honest, upright, broadminded and true to his conceptions of right. Mr. Miller deserves the confidence and merits the support of the voters of Indiana.

TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 5

Republican Senatorial Convention Will be Held at Greenfield.

A. L. Riggs, Republican county chairman, has received word that the joint senatorial convention to nominate a Republican candidate for state senator for the senatorial district comprised of Rush, Fayette and Hancock counties, will be held at Greenfield Saturday, September 5. Greenfield was selected as the meeting place by the county chairman some time ago. Township conventions will be held a week from tomorrow, August 22, to name delegates to the convention.

C. L. Hutchins, a state sanitary inspector, in company with George T. Melle, inspector at Newcastle, visited Spiceland Thursday and pronounced the general sanitary condition of the town as being good. They found little or nothing to criticise.

Complaints have been made in Knightstown about the water supply there. Dr. Jean Holloway, city health officer, has had the water examined at the office of the state chemist and it has been found to be pure. The water supply is coming directly from the wells and not the reservoir.

The real estate belonging to the late John S. Lacky, of Cambridge City, will be sold at auction, on the premises, Tuesday, August 18.

GIVES FACTS ON LIGHTNING RODS

Familiar Figure of Agent Will Soon Disappear if Advise of Experts is Observed

WARNS AGAINST PEDDLERS

Fancy Construction is Not Necessary—Goat Raising in U. S. Has Proved Success

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—The lightning rod peddler, familiar figure in every rural community, with his hocus pocus tales of the efficiency of rods tipped with gold or pointed with Platinum,will soon belong to an extinct type, if information on lightning rods published by the Department of Agriculture is thoroughly circulated.

Answering ten questions about lightning rods, the department says: "For ordinaly purposes good protection is afforded by a conductor along the ridge of the building and extending to the earth, either at the middle of the sides, or, preferably, at each of the four corners. Points should rise above any prominent features of the building, such as chimneys, or in the absence of these features, from the ridge of the roof at intervals of 25 feet or thereabous.

"In order to make lightning rods really efficient, it is important that they be of good material, properly installed and properly grounded in moist earth. Periodical inspection and maintenance in good condition is also indispensible. Lightning rods naturally increase the danger of a building being struck but a properly rodded house may be struck several times without injury, whereas a single stroke to an unprotected house may cause its destruction.

Lightning rods should be put up without insulators. Expensive gilded or platinum points are absolutely unnecessary. Fancy construction of lightning rods will avail nothing when struck by a real flash. The useful qualities lightning rods should possess are infusibility under prolonged exposure to the weather.

"Stout bluntly-pointed iron rods, three eights or one-half inch in diameter rigidly and securely fastened so as to project one and a half to two feet above the structure to which they are attached satisfy all requirements.

"Iron makes a good lightning rod, especially from the viewpoint of cost, but copper or aluminum make better conductors though more costly."

"The Department warns buyers against lightning rod peddlers who try to sell a system of underground lightning rods. Rods should be effectively connected with the earth.

Goat raising is a demonstrated success in the United States, the Department of Agriculture believes.

The industry is said to be so well established that no inconvenience will be felt in this country from the action of the South African government in prohibiting exportation of Angoras. The best American fleeces now equal those in South Africa and Asia.

Nearly every state now has its goat flocks but they thrive best in the Northwest. The department encourages their raising on the theory that not only are they a source of profit but that they clear away under brush which if allowed to grow unchecked would become a fire menace.

Declaring that experience of dairy farmers indicate increased milk production where cows are fed silage, the Department of Agriculture has just issued a statement to encourage the use of siles.

Silage is the best and cheapest form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use, the bulletin says.

An acre of grain can be placed in the sile at a cost not exceeding that of the shocking, hucking, grinding and shredding. Crops can be put in the sile during weather that cannot be used in making or curing fodder.

A given amount of corn in the form of silage will produce more milk than the same when shocked and dried.

Good silage, properly fed, is all consumed and in addition very profitable and palatable. Like other succulent feed it has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs of animals.

PROBLEM IS FACED BY CITY OFFICIALS

How to Care for Stranded Americans When They Reach New York Must be Answered

NEW YORK COMMITTEE READY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 14.—How to care for stranded Americans, when they arrive in America, was the problem which administration officials and William H. Hamilton, Jr., representing Mayor Mitchel of New York, discussed today.

The New York citizens' committee stands ready to give relief to any needy refuges but Hamilton today sought to find out whether Secretary of the Treasury, McAdoo, preferred that National government disburse its own relief money.

POSTOFFICE FIGHT SPLITS THE DISTRICT

Congressman Lincoln Dixon is in Sorry Plight Because of Fusses Over Appointments.

9 COMMITTEEMEN RESIGN

Seymour, Ind., Aug. 14.—The Democratic party throughout this congressional district has been split in an artistic manner by the postoffice fights that developed in every community in the district. Congressman Lincoln Dixon is finally beginning to wake up to the fact that postoffice fights have broken as good men as ever went to Congress, even where the distributor of patronage was fortified with a seemingly unbeatable plurality. The situation here is a sample. Recently, as a result of a bitter contest over the local postoffice, nine members of the Democratic county central committee resigned. The Democratic county chairman, on the day on which their successors were to be chosen, spent the whole day in Seymour drumming up a crowd and when the meeting was called to order in the evening just 21 men were present. A number of men who were drafted to act as committeeman were not at the meeting.

DOESN'T ALTER DETERMINATION

Grain Exporters Refuse to Ship Despite Assurances from British Admiralty

THAT SEA LINES ARE CLEAR

Seizers of Cargoes of Wheat Already Reported and They Will Take no Chances

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 14.—Official assurances from the British admiralty that sea lines to Europe are clear of German ships did not serve to alter the determination of American grain exporters not to ship grain to England. As explained by a committee of the grain exporters, the situation is as follows:

Liverpool firms hold contracts from Americans for huge supplies of wheat, sold on prices current before the war declaration.

All grain consigned in fulfillment of these contracts is seized by the British government.

The small number of ships still sailing charge exorbitant rates and the insurance risk is at a high record.

The committee has advised cancellation of all contracts, since it is apparent the grain never reaches its consignees; is taken by the government at its own price and a price which does not compensate the shipper for his expenses.

Seizure of six cargoes of wheat has already been reported to the exporters and so far there is nothing to indicate that the owners will ever receive the money from the British government.

A committee of grain men will confer with Secretary McAdoo in Washington tomorrow. They seek a pledge from Great Britian exacted through the state department, either to permit consignees to receive cargoes or that the shippers will be adequately compensated if the grain is taken by the government.

Caoncellation of contracts is being made by America firms on the basis of a clause automatically terminating the contract in the event that hostilities prevent shipment The British firms claim that hostilities have not halted commerce, in view of the admiralty statement and are demanding fulfillment. American exporters face heavy penalties in British admiralty courts if those tribunals take the same view as the British grain men.

Canadian ports are still open and commerce is officially reported as unmolested by German war craft.

Velvet Is All Rage In Fashion World at This Time of Year

With Fashions and Love to fill our minds,
Wars and suffrage and strikes seem petty;
So Betty smiles in her basque of black—
And I bask in the smiles of Betty.

(By United Press.)

New York, August 14:—The black basque plays as important a part in the sartorial make up of the dainty maid who follows the Fashions as the black masque in the sartorial make up of the taking person who follows the dark lantern and the jimmy.

Preferably and almost invariably of black velvet, this newest basque is worn with a fluffy and many flounced skirt of white organdie or batiste. Often the skirt while it has an organdie foundation breaks out in flounces of either tulle or chiffon. Delicate orchid and sweet pea tints are also used for these skirts as well as the all white and the effect of many ruffles bursting out below the close sheath of rich black velvet basque is charming enough to compensate for the rather obvious discomforts of such apparel on a midsummer day.

As a concession to the heat, variations of these basques are shown developed in either black taffeta or black satin but they lack that indescribable air of chic of the velvet brand. Hence they are not much favored by the fashionably elect who have long since bowed to the inexorable mandate of the mode that one cannot be truly smart and comfortable all at the same time.

The velvet basque is always low of neck and long of sleeve and buttoned either up the front or back with invisible bullet buttons. On some of them sheer roll collars of organdie or a tulle frill softens the effect about the throat.

The run on velvet is by no means confined to the basque. Already the all velvet hat saucy and perky in its miniature proportions has ousted the fragile straw from the heads of summer beau ties. So tiny and close fitting are they that they seem inadequately to dispute the prophecy that large chapeaux of picture proportions are coming to the top again ere long. And yet following the immutable law that everything goes the limit before it changes and things are always worse before they are better, this August crop of wee velvet hats may be to prove the rule that they have only gotten smaller to get larger.

The parasol indeed practices being useful as well as ornamental this season of small hats and even they are now being shown in velvet. So you see the mid-summer madness for this rich and lustrous fabric has not only gone to lovely woman's head but over it as well.

There certainly is nothing half way about Fashion and from the extremity of no sleeves at all, or at least none to speak of, the long sleeve is now being the dernier cri. For afternoon and street wear they are absolutely the only permissable sleeves as the total absence of arm covering still holds good for evening toilettes it is simply a case of long sleeves or none. While the velvet and satin basques all show uncompromisingly long tight sleeves of the same materials long sleeves of lace tulle are very smart in combination with the silken bodices of many of the dressy little afternoon frocks of taffeta or crepe. The lingerie gowns are all showing the long sheer sleeves now and a pretty fad is the wearing of a circlet of tiny rosebuds or some other small artificial flowers between the elbow and the shoulders to peep through the mist of lace or tulle. Bracelets of sparkling jewels are also given a welcome haven in like position and many are the fortunes in gems that one fair maid is thus enabled to keep up her sleeve.

As a sort of reaction against the multi-colored strands of beads that have all summer decorated the bosoms of both Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady, that latter personage is now going in exclusively for strands of pearls. Real or otherwise stringe of these luminous tear-like jewels show to best advantage atop the background of the black velvet basque and contrary to the long accepted decree that pearls before breakfast were as bad as pearls before swine, pearls are now being proudly flaunted in the face of tradition and the rosy dawn.

The present penchant for the chaste pearl has by no means completely done for the beads of many color, however. As brilliant beaded bands for dress trimming, and as fringe and garnishment on purses and bags of silk and velvet they will fulfill a different but an equally prominent sphere this fall and winter.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backachy or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DEFINITE IDEA OF POSITION NOW

Germans Concentrate Most of Field Troops Along 75 Mile Line From Liege to Treves

HAVE APPROXIMATELY 900,000

Three Possible Ways of Entering France Exists—France's Alsacian Advance Halted

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press).

New York, Aug. 14.—It is possible now to form a fairly definite idea of the relative positions of the two great armies facing each other over the borders of Belgium and Luxemburg. The Germans have concentrated most of their field troops probably about 900,000 combatants along a seventy-five mile line running from Liege to the entrance into Luxemburg at Treves.

For this army three possible ways of entering France exist. It can make its left wing advance guard and proceed via Luxemburg, or it can move its center forward and reach France between the Meuse river and Luxemburg or finally, it can adhere to its original plan of crossing Belgium and emerging west of Lille.

The probability is that the last way is the route that will be taken but the French staff general cannot know this for a certainty. This gives the German forces a strategic advantage. Not knowing positively where the huge massed attack will be delivered the allies must guard the three possible approaches, compelling them to distribute their forces alonge a line of one hundred and fifty miles, twice the length of the German concentration. The position of Germany is comparable to a football eleven holding the ball for a massed run down the field with three goals before them, any one of which they may select as their objective.

Suggestions are made that the Germans may move through Belgium toward Waterloo and Brussels with their whole first line strength without subduing Liege and Namur. Such an advance would be justified only if Germany were the victor in the titantic battle that would follow on Belgian soil.

If the kaiser's forces were broken and were compelled to retreat the retirement across the Meuse river in face of the Liege and Namur forts supported by the secondary defenses at Huy, would probably develope into a disaster.

The alternative to this line of retreat would be an invasion of Holland with all the possibilities of military and diplomatic complications thus entailed.

It is not necessary for Germany to capture Liege and Namur before her troops can proceed. The possibility of a retreat is the point of consideration that is compelling the Germans to delay for precious days at the Meuse river.

France's advance through Alsace has doubtless been halted by the tremendous massing of German's forces in the North. The French hold an area of perhaps one hundred and fifty square miles in Southern Alsace. It has no military value for them, but the sentimental effect of retaining a foothold in the lost province will be felt wherever the rival armies clash.

The clearing of the Atlantic steamship line of hostile German warships by the French and English with in a fortnight is a demontration of high naval efficiency. The distance across the Atlantic is about the same as the distance from New York to San Francisco. Imagine the difficulties that would confront a dozen or so motorcars with an average speed of 20 to twenty-five miles an hour trying to keep three or four other motorcars from holding up transcontinental trains.

BLOODLESS BATTLE OFF SANDY HOOK

British Cruiser Name Unknown, Flee Before Bombardment From Several Batteries.

SEVERAL BROADSIDES SENT

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 14.—Extra—British warship routed in battle off Sandy Book!

It was a bloodless fight, but a British cruiser, name not definitely known, turned tail and fled before a little puffing tug and a battery of six inch rapid fire cameras which sent broadside at the fighting ship.

The story was told here today by moving picture photographsers who hired a tug and went in search of the mysterious war craft yesterday. They found her after considerable search twenty miles southeast of Ambrose channel lightship. She was declared for action steaming lazily along on her patrol when the camera tug slipped up and opened fire. Sailors on deck shouted a greeting at the camera men. But when officers saw the battery firing away, they ordered steam up and with smoke pouring from her funnels, the war ship put off. The picture men alleged that sailors shouted over the side that their ship was the Essex. Her name plate was covered, however.

HIS CAMPAIGN BEARING FRUIT

Preliminary Reports Show Many Increases in Price Over Country are Unwarranted

SOME BELIEVED ILLEGAL

President Wilson Hears From Several District Attorneys and Special Agents Today

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug 14.—President Wilson's campaign against "rapid and unwarranted increase in prices of foodstuffs upon the pretext of conditions in Europe" bore early friut today.

Preliminary reports from United States District Attorneys and department of justice special agents declaring many price increases speculative, unjustificable and some bearing elements of illegal conspiracy subject to anti-trust law prosecution began to pour in by telegraph upon the attorney general.

Within a week or ten days McReynolds expects to be able to submit the report, requested in the president's letter yesterday, whether immediate resort to the courts shall be taken or a further investigation be made jointly by the departments of justice, commerce and agriculture.

Supplemental instructions regarding the price inquiry were issued today. It was reported that scrutiny was ordered particularly of activities of combined wholesalers and commission men, such as live stock and grain exchanges, produce and poultry exchanges, butter and egg markets, fruit exchanges, vegetable "unions" and cold storage houses.

Reports that meat, eggs, butter, cheese and poultry dealers were deliberately creating an artificial "famine" by storing in cold storage warehouses were received.

START BOYCOTT ON FOOD TODAY

Members of Illinois Woman's Democratic Club Takes Summary Actions Because of High Prices.

BUTCHERS ARE UP IN ARMS

Demand of Congress Legislation to Punish Speculating in Food Products

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Aug. 14.—A boycott of all meats and other food articles whose prices were advanced apparently without warrant, was launched today by the Illinois Woman's Democratic Club. The boycott movement is expected to be approved at a housewives mass meeting Tuesday night as a weapon in the campaign for lower food prices.

The Chicago Master Butchers' Association today made public resolutions it directed against the packers. The butchers called upon congress to place a ten per cent duty on export meat and demanded legislation providing fines and imprisonment for persons speculating in food products.

"The meat packers virtually admitted that meat prices have been inflated" declared John T. Russell, president of the United Master Butchers of America, today. "After boosting pork prices five to sevn seven cents in one week, they suddenly reduced them, not because of any decided drop in hog prices, but because the butchers refused to buy."

United States District Attorney Wilkerson will arrive tomorrow to open a probe into the action of the packers and food wholesalers.

RESERVISTS CALLED HOME

Kaiser and Czar Hats Are Placed on Market By Hustling Milliners

One of the largest millinery importers in the country has introduced the Czar and the Kaiser hats, although it has only been about ten days since the war was declared. Both styles are of military aspect, the former in a "tete de nergre"—brown velvet with a novelty prompon of brown feathers held at the top with a brown rose. A trimming of gold cloth around the hat prettily ornaments the front. The Kaiser is a helmet shape with a high trimming of heckle feather breast directly in front and bands of silver. The Czar is of brown and gold, and the Kaiser is in black and silver.

The war will make a difference in milady's millinery. A representative of an importing millinery house, of Cleveland, O., says it will depend on whether goods can be imported. French novelties can be imported usually for less money. A great part of millinery, both hats and trimming, can be made in this country.

Black and white, silver and gold, will lead. They have begun a new feature in headwear early in the seasons, the black velvet hat having made its appearance while Mr. Thermometer was well up in the nineties.

The first importations for the fall have been in this country since early July. All of the importing houses send the new millinery attractions as fast as they appear in Paris, and the other famous centers. This, of course, is when conditions are normal. It is doubtful whether foreign millinery can be brought over now. Should the war continue long, there is no doubt that prices will be higher, and hats will bear the mark of "Made in America."

The hats are of varying sizes, though none of them are the enormous frames that have prevailed in former years. Dress hats of pale pink or citron—a yellow—and blue are trimmed with white camelias. The black velvet hats have for a novelty a simple trimming of two white love birds, with their heads entwined and the tails extending far to the right and to the left over the brim.

America may have to depend, both for material and styles, on the genius of its own people. The gold and silver metal cloths that are the first reigning successes of the season, as well as the velvets and many other things, can be made in this country, though they are usually at a higher cost than the ones that come from abroad.

Milady can have her fall headwear, for it is already in America.

NO IMPORTANT MOVEMENT MADE IN EUROPEAN WAR

Private houses are being turned into hospitals and schoolhouses and meeting halls are also used. The German losses at Healen, Tirlemont, Noville-Taviers and Eghzee are declared by the war office to have exceeded 10,000 in killed and wounded along with more than 5,000 taken prisoners.

It is already plain that the German commanding generals are not considering the human equation in their operations. They are sacrificing men like flies. Massed columns are being pushed forward everywhere in the effort to "feel out" the Belgian front and they have been mowed down like wheat by the Belgian rapid fire guns, served with wonderful accuracy.

But the German advance persists. Forced to retreat at one point, the forward movement is renewed at another and with an army as enormous as the German it is only a question of time when the Belgian resistance must be crushed.

This is the big thing for which preparations are being made. The French and British armies, whose numbers and whereabouts are known only to the Belgian general staff will take up the defense of Belgium as the first line of defense is penetrated, as now seems certain. That this army is in Belgium now is known. Its location can be guessed but no information concerning it will be passed by the censor. Yet the war office says that "it will give an excellent account of itself" and couples it with the announcement that "Brussels is now safe from capture."

Liege forts are holding out and the latest word from them is that the Germans have apparently entirely abandoned the plan of carrying them by storm. The city of Liege is quiet with the Belgian flag flying from the town hall and the German troops inside of the city are aided in their patrol by the Liege police, who have been ordered by the burgomaster to obey German orders.

The Germans have been handicapped in their efforts to reduce the Liege forts by the wonderful accuracy of the defenders. Every foot of the territory within gun range of the forts has been mapped. Each fort commander has these charts and the tables of ranges. As a result every time that the Germans have succeeded in mounting a heavy siege gun within range it has been demolished by the fusillade of heavy metal from the threatening fort. The Germans have now mounted their guns in trenches along the line of the Meuse. The advancing column which was cut to pieces by the Belgians had been sent from Huy which is held by the Germans, having been captured by a cavalry division supported by mounted artillery.

The Belgian victory was made possible by the air scouts. They had reported the German advance and the Belgian commander had mounted his machine guns in position to rake the entire country outside of Eghezee. Entanglements had been constructed with felled trees and barbed wire along all of the roads and across the fields and the fire of the Belgians was reserved until the Germans had encountered these onstables. The Germans were trapped and while they were vainly trying to break through the line they were subjected to a murderous fire from the Belgian lines. The few Germans who managed to break through were unable to penetrate the Belgian line and when the Belgians assumed the offensive and charged the German force was utterly routed being forced to abandon its machine guns, in its flight.

KAISER LOOKS FOR MORE ALLIES

Makes Supreme Effort in Courts of Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania to Get Help

BALKANS WILL BE DRAWN IN

Partial Mobilization by Bulgaria May Cause Trouble—Reserves Called to Colors

BY HENRY WOOD

Rome, Aug 12. (delayed)—The Kaiser is making a supreme effort in the courts of Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania to have these nations side with Germany and Austria in the present war. This is admitted in official circles here where the negotiations of the kaiser's representatives are being closely followed.

That the Balkans must inevitably be drawn into the war is considered certain here. But it is unlikely that they will line up entirely for the kaiser. Greece and Turkey must inevitably fight but the latter will range itself on the side of the kaiser while Greece will aid England.

Partial mobilization ordered by Bulgaria may cause trouble. It has proclaimed a state of siege and the reserves are being called to the colors. The Czar, however, is endeavoring to keep Bulgaria out of the fighting and may succeed.

The situation here in Italy is acute. The anti-Austrain feeling continues to increase but the government insists that it will continue neutral. The cabinent is in almost constant session and the army and navy are mobilized.

Food prices have advanced rapidly and many manufacturing establishments have been closed down. The suffering among the poorer classes is intense and the government is now considering plans of relief.

NO IMPORTANT MOVEMENTS ARE MADE IN EUROPEAN WAR TODAY

Germans Content Themselves With Masked Changes in Position to Feel Out Defense.

BOMBARDMENT HAS NO EFFECT

Belgian War Office Says That Liege Forts Are Holding Out Against German Fire.

EARLIER ATTACKS CHECKED

Ferocious Assauts of Wednesday and Thursday Fail to Develop Belgians Weakness.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, August 14.—Brussels newspapers tonigth print rumors said to be attributed to German prisoners that Gereral Von Emmich, the commander whose attempts to take the Liege forts failed, killed himself following receipt of rebuke from the general staff.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, Aug. 14.—An official statement issued from the war office at noon says:

"The situation throughout Belgium continues satisfactory. There have been no important developments today. The German columns are containing themselves with masked movements designed to ascertain the strength of the Belgian defenses and there has been no serious fighting. There have been no important movements today.

"The Liege forts still hold out and the German bombardment of them has proved ineffective. Germans are still in Liege but the civil government of the city is not being interfered with."

The German advance is checked all along its advance line in Belgium, according to the war office. The reconnaissance in force on Wednesday and Thursday failed to develop a weakness in the Belgian front and the enemy is apparently awaiting arrival of supply trains. Belgian attempts to cut the German line of communication has failed, but the Belgian war office insists that the Germans have been forced back along the Dutch frontier and are now in danger of being driven over it and forced to disarm because of the proclamation of dutch nutrality.

The Liege forts remains intact with the defenders having the best of the artillery duel still in progress. Liege city is still occupied by the Germans and is reported quiet.

The German cavalry advance renewed the raids on the Belgian lines at half a dozen points today but the war office officials claim that in every instance they failed to penetrate the advanced Belgium position. The raids, it is admitted, have been for the purpose of feeling out the Belgian front but the enemy was unable to locate any weak spots. The Belgian sero corps is proving of inestimable value to the field forces. Every German move is anticipated and because of the excellent transport arrangements, it is possible for the Belgian field commanders to meet the Germans more than half way in every attack.

Streams of Belgian and German wounded are being brought here from the front. The trains have been useless and an auto corps organized by the Red Cross is being used, every available auto in this city having been impressed for that purpose.

LULL IN ACTUAL FIGHTING FALLS

War Experts Feel that Sudden Stop of Activities is Ominous. Portending Big Battle.

GERMANS NEED SUPPLIES

Allied Armies Are in Position Waiting For the Assault—Location is Not Known.

(By United Press.)

London, August 14.—There was a lull in the actual news of fighting today that even the war experts admitted seems ominous. The German advance was temporarily halted in Belgium plainly, waiting for the coming up of the main infantry strength and the supply trains. The latter is badly needed.

The German army has been unable to live off the country and its commissary has proved unequal to the sudden strain. So the offense movement is halted until the lines of communication can be restored.

The war office at Brussels admitted knowledge of an expected immediate resumption of hostilities. The Belgians have done their best, but with the German infantry, the kaiser's most feared weapon, engaged in force, there will be worked for the allied army.

No one doubts that the allies are in position waiting the German assault. Just where is known to the army chief's alone. But that it is in strength massed behind the Belgian cavalry curtain is certain.

ALL AMERICANS IN BERLIN SAFE

Ambassador Cables State Department Today he Will Send Special Train Tomorrow.

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—Ambassador Gerrad of Berlin today cabled the state department, stating that all Americans are safe. He said that a great meeting was held to extend encouragement to Americans. He reported travel to the south impossible but said he was sending a special train with refugees to Holland tomorrow. All Americans are listed by card index. He reported boats from Holland tomorrow. All Americans are listed by card index. He reported boats from Holland to England still running.

He said the American association of commence and trade of Berlin requests Americans to "be careful in giving credence to war reports." He said the city of Berlin was perfectly quiet with food prices normal.

CROSS BORDER OF SWITZERLAND

German Troops Step Over Boundary And French Declare it Violation of Swiss Neutrality.

STATEMENT ISSUED TODAY

French War Office Says Its Men Never Pursue Their Advantages Across the Frontier.

(By United Press.)

Paris, August 14.—The French government today made the direct charge that Germany is violating the neutrality of Switzerland. It claims, in an official statement issued this afternoon that numerous German mounted patrols routed by French cavalry columns have crossed the border into Switzerland. The official announcement continues:

"These scouting parties of the enemy have not hesitated to violate the Swiss territory in efforts to escape from capture by the French cavalry attacking them. The French commanding officers, however, have the strictest orders not to pursue their advantage across the Swiss frontier and as a result many of the German patrols escaped almost certain capture."

It is announced that the French government will direct the attention of the Swiss government to this violation of its territory.

This announcement, and a claim that the French army which is holding the passes through the Vosgee Mountains have defeated all attempts on part of the Germans to take the railroad ways through the ranges, was all the censor permitted to become known today. In the Vosges mountains it is claimed that the sweeping victory occurred. The German columns from Neusheim it is stated, attempted to stake the St. Marie and Le Bouhomme passes which were taken by the French a week ago. The German attack was in force according to the reports here but the French had mounted artillery at all of the approaches and the Germans failed utterly in an attempt to storm the French positions.

According to the reports made public at the war office one entire German division with artillery was entrapped and after being badly cut up by a deluge of fire from the rapid fire guns was forced to surrender. This victory is declared to have taken place near the entrance to St. Marie Pass.

It is considered certain here that the fighting in the department of Neurthe Et Moselle continues, but all particulars are withheld by the government. The only reference permitted was in a statement issued by the war office which said:

"Skirmishing between the opposing armies along the entire frontier continues. The French positions have maintained at every point and organized attempts to penetrate the frontier have been beaten off with accompanying heavy losses. In every engagement, the superiority of the French artillery and cavalry have been thoroughly demonstrated."

7 GERMAN SHIPS ARE SUNK

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 14.—The Chronicle correspondent at West Hartlepool wires that the captain of the Danish steamer Hulda Nearsk told him that he passed seven sunken German ships off Spurn Head at the Northeast entrance to the Humber. The official press bureau says that it has no knowledge of any German ships sunk in that vicinity.

ASK FOR HELP AT WASHINGTON

Relatives of Girls in Coleman Party Address Letter to State Department.

DR. W. S. COLEMAN WRITES IT

Some Concern Felt For Them Because no Word Has Been Received Since War Broke.

Indicating that they feel some concern about the plight of the party of women tourists conducted by Miss Henrietta Coleman of this city and now in Europe, a request has been forwarded to Washington asking that the state department make some inquiry and attempt to locate them.

Dr. W. S. Coleman, brother of Miss Coleman, has written to the state department asking that its agents try to learn something of the whereabouts of the party of women. Dr. Coleman said in the letter that relatives of the women would bear all expenses. He requested that the state department make inquiry at once if it felt that it could do any good.

An itinerary of the Coleman party was sent with the letter so that the state department would know how to go about making an investigation.

For several days Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Ong, of Columbus, Ind., parents of Miss Carrie Ong, who is in the Coleman party, have been worried about the whereabouts of the girls. They fully expected word most any day that they were safe but as the days passed and no news was received from them except letters and cards mailed before the war broke, anxiety has been increased.

The party should have arrived in Paris last Tuesday. Relatives are inclined to believe that if they did get to Paris on schedule that their names would have been mentioned in the list of American tourists who are safe in Paris and who have registered at the American embassy. But each day as new names are added to the list, the name of not one of the members of the Coleman party has appeared.

It was felt there was a chance that the girls never attempted to reach Paris when they learned the true condition of things. In that event, it was believed they would get to the nearest Italian port from which a vessel was sailing and come home. But relatives feel certain that if the girls had sailed for home, they would have cabled some word of their intentions before leaving Europe.

All these things combined lead to the belief that the party is stranded some place in Europe. The theory is advanced by many that the girls would never leave Italy when they learned what transpired the first few days of August. Italy is still neutral and there has not been much semblance of war in that country although the army has been ordered mobilized to hold preserve Italy's declaration of neutrality.

INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—A grand jury in federal court today began an investigation into increased food prices. Local heads of packing companies, wholesale groceries and hotel owners were called. Secretary of Commerce Redfield today ordered his special agents throughout the country to make a thorough probe of the food prices which are being charged.

JAIL SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED

Emanuel Dunwoody, However, is Fined Five Dollars and Costs For Cutting Francis Joyce.

INTENT CHARGE UNPROVED

Joyce Says His Throat Was Cut While he Was Asleep and Dunwoody Denied His Guilt.

Emanuel Dunwoody was fined five dollars and costs and sentenced to ten days in jail this morning by Mayor Bebout. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior. Dunwoody was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Francis "Plug" Joyce but Mayor Bebout held that the intent was not proved.

Dunwoody was arrested following a cutting scrape in the Harry Pea barn in West First street. Joyce was found with his throat badly cut and suspicion rested on Dunwoody. Joyce told a very strange story on the witness stand and was a very unwilling witness. According to Joyce, the three men, Jesse Ridout, Dunwoody and himself had gone to the barn to take a drink of whiskey, which was furnished by Ridout.

Joyce said one drink called for another and then he remembered having an argument. He stated that he went to sleep and must have been asleep about two hours when he awakened to find his throat had been cut. Joyce stated that he did not know who did the cutting and would not say that it was Dunwoody.

Jesse Ridout told the court that he went to the barn but did not go in with the other two. They drove to the place in Ridout's rig, and one of the peculiar things about it is that Ridout walked to his home in Jersey City, leaving the horse and wagon at the barn.

He stated that he was first told of the cutting by his wife after he had been home about one-half hour. He testified that Dunwoody and Joyce had gone into the barn together and he did not remember seeing either come out.

Alex Newman, who lives near the barn, testified that he saw Joyce come out with his throat cut. He said that he found a half-pint bottle of whiskey with the cork out on the floor and that some of the "booze" was running out when he picked it up.

Neither Ridout or Newman knew positively who did the cutting. Chief Rosencrance testified to a conversation he had with Dunwoody in the jail. He stated that Dunwoody in talking of the fight said, "It was an old grudge and I worked on him before he work on me." Rosencrance filed the affidavit against Dunwoody, but could not state positively that it was Dunwoody who did the cutting and was relying on the statement that Dunwoody had made to him.

Policeman Hunt told of arresting Dunwoody. When found Dunwoody had on a different hat and his shirt was covered with blood. His hat was found at the barn. The defense introduced no testimony and George W. Young, who defended Dunwoody, stated to the court that the officers had surmized at most of what they had given and did not know it to be a fact that Dunwoody did the cutting. He held that the state did not have enough evidence to bind Dunwoody over to the circuit court and was sustained by Mayor Bebout.

Mrs. Susan Tingley, one of the city's oldest and best known women, is very sick at her home in West Fifth street.

NIGHT FAIR IS EXPECTED TO AID

Innovation at Annual Event, When Free Attractions Will be Given Every Evening, Will be Popular.

ARRANGEMENTS ABOUT MADE

Work Started Today Erecting Pole For Lighting Grounds—Free Attractions and Concessions.

Plans for the Rush county fair, week after next, are gradually taking shape and Secretary Thomas stated today that all of the free attractions and most of the concessions will have been contracted for by tomorrow night. From all indications the fair will be the best ever held and the night feature is expected to be a big drawing card.

Now that the contract for the lights has been let arrangements for the night fair can be completed and details worked out. The Capp Plumbing and Electrical company started work this morning erecting the poles and stringing the wire for the electric lights. The current will be obtained from the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company. Twenty poles will be used and the grounds will be well lighted.

The tract in front of the grand stand will be especially well lighted as it is here that some of the features of the night fair will be given. The Capp company will also sell lights to the concessions if they desire electricity. The fair association only lights the grounds and the stands will furnish their own light.

Tuesday evening will see the opening of the night fair. At this time the Chenhall Presbyterian Boy's band of Shelbyville, which has contracted to furnish the music for the fair, will give the first of two concerts. The concerts will be given in front of the grand stand.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights a horse show will be held. The programs each night will be changed. Fancy driving and the showing of horses will be a part of the programs. It is not known when the second concert by the band will be given.

Among the concessions already contracted for are Buckskin Ben's Wild West show. This show is the largest show making the fair this year and is considered a good attraction. The show carries its own band and concerts will be given in Rushville every day. A large motordome, ferris wheel and merry-go-round have all agreed to come. There will be no night fair on Friday as this is the last day and the stand men are all anxious to move to the next fair on this night.

Work was started this morning on

Some people's idea of co-operation is to let the other fellow shake the trees, while they eat the apples.

True co-operation is a pull together for the success goal. When national advertisers use the newspapers to create a demand for their products, shrewd merchants co-operate by showing the goods. It is a "pull together" that means increased sales and satisfied patrons.

BARBECUE IS SMALL AFFAIR

Demonstration at Vincennes, Long Planned by Progressives, is Failure as to Crowd.

NO MORE THAN 1,000 THERE

Indianapolis Star Predicts Before Gathering That 10,000 People Would be Present.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—The Bull Moose barbeque held at Vincennes Wednesday for the progressives of the First and Second districts and at which Albert J. Beveridge was the headliner was a great disappointment to Beveridge and everybody else connected with it. The barbecue had been extensively advertised for weeks. The Indianapolis Star has been saying that it would be one of the biggest political meetings ever held in the state, predicted that the attendance would be not less than 10,000.

To the dismay of the progressive leaders the attendance did not exceed 1,000. The Star yesterday places the crowd at 2,000, but everybody knows the Star places the attendance at every Beveridge meeting from two to five times as large as it was. Instead of the 5,000 people that were expected on special trains, fewer than 400 came. The gigantic automobile parade that had been advertised was the greatest disappointment of all. Only twenty-eight automobiles could be mustered for the demonstration.

That the meeting was a disappointment is plainly revealed by the following statement which the Star prints in an effort to account for the small attendance:

The three happenings which kept the barbecue from being a record breaker as a Knox county political meeting were: A street car strike was declared in Vincennes this morning: the date of a farmers' union meeting set for Aug. 15 at Monroe, in Knox county, had been changed to Aug. 12; a bridge over the Patoka River on the road from Princeton to Vincennes was placarded as unsafe and closed to Princeton progressives, who in automobiles were on their way to the meeting, and who were compelled to return to Princeton to take another road, causing an extra journey of fifteen miles.

RAINS CHANGE CROP OUTLOOK

Parched Earth Drinks up Moisture Which Starts All Vegetation to Growing Once More.

RYE FOR WINTER PASTURE

The splendid rains of the last few days have changed the crop outlook in Rush county, the entire state and other states and farmers are very much encouraged. The rain did the corn an immense amount of good, it is said, notwithstanding the fact that some thought the crop was past being benefited. All crops are taking on a different aspect. The shortness of the hay and rough feed crops has made the farmers do some planning and it is reported that some of them are now seeding their corn to rye for fall and winter pasture. In Kansas and other of the western states where they have been having a drought, the outlook is now much brighter since the rains. With plenty of moisture from this time on, it is thought the fall outlook will be a great deal more encouraging to the farmers than has been the summer outlook.

TOWN HAS A SENSATION

Andersonville Wrought up Over the Finding of Dead Baby.

Andersonville has a sensation which the Andersonville Herald this week displayed in big headlines. It portrayed the fact that a dead infant had been found on the Senour farm a mile east of Andersonville. Mr. and Mrs. Woodson O. Clark and family live on the place. Mrs. Ann Clark and Mrs. Louisa Vail were walking through the woods when they found the partially decayed body of the infant wrapped in a newspaper. The Andersonville Herald presents many conjectures regarding the find.

NO MONEY ORDERS FOR TWO COUNTRIES

Uncle Sam Cuts Off Relations With Austria and Belgium Because of European War.

NOTICE FROM DEPARTMENT

Postmaster Hunt has been advised that money order exchange between the United States and Austria has ceased and has been notified to issue no money orders on Austrian office and to pay no orders issued by offices in that country. Until the outbreak of the European war the local office issued a very considerable number of Austrian money orders each month, the larger number to employes of the plate glass works. The suspension of exchange was announced by a cablegram from the Austrian administration.

Exchanges between this country and Belgium were annulled by the postal administration of that country last week.

Orders, however, continue to be issued on office in the British Isle, England, France, Germany and other European countries, under careful scrutiny to determine that they are not to be used for speculative purpose through the advance in the rates of exchange, and orders to the amount of $100 may be issued without question in favor of any American subject desiring to return to America.

KNIGHTSTOWN BOY MISSING 4 WEEKS

Harry Steele Tells Friends he is Coming Here and That is Last Seen of Him.

EMPLOYED AT CARTHAGE

Harry Steele, the son of Mrs. Belle Steele, of this city, is missing from his home in Knightstown and his mother has not seen him for more than four weeks

About a month or so ago he was working in the strawboard mill at Carthage but because somebody said something about his work that he did not like Harry quit work and told one of the men at the mill that he intended coming to Rushville. That was the last seen of him. His mother seems greatly worried as to his whereabouts and asked help to locate her son.

Young Steele is 15 years old. He has brown hair and eyes and is partly blind in the left optic. A few years since he suffered a badly sprained left ankle and that member is crooked in consequence. His step is a little uncertain and frequently he limps when he walks.

BABIES MEDALS ARRIVE TODAY

Arrangements Have Been Completed For Contest Which Will be Held at Rush County Fair.

PRELIMINARY WEDNESDAY

Health of the Nation is Built on the Health of Each Baby—Can Build up Nation.

The medals for the better babies contest which will be held in connection with the Rush county fair arrived today. There is a bronze medal for the best girl baby and one for the best boy baby.

There is no red tape about entering babies, contrary to the impression that has gained credence. The preliminary when the examination will be held at the Graham school building will begin at nine o'clock next Wednesday morning. Mothers are urged to have their babies there by that time. That is all that is required to enter.

Concerning the better babies contest at the Rush county fair week after next, the preliminary contest of which will be held at the Graham school building next Wednesday, the following has been given out by the committee in charge:

Have you a baby in your house?

Or has your next door neighbor a baby of whom you are fond?

If so, you will be interested in the better babies contest to be held at the Rush county fair week after next.

Why?

Because the public in general is just beginning to realize that a great deal depends upon just your baby or your neighbor's baby. The health of the nation is built on the health of each baby, and physicians will tell you that with proper care and feeding of children the entire health of the nation can be built up. Healthy babies mean healthy children in the public schools. Thus the expense of trying to educate defective children is reduced for the tax payer. Healthy children in the school room grow into healthy, vigorous, satisfied workers in the industries and professions. And best of all, healthy babies mean peace and happiness in the home, and care-free parents.

The better babies contest proves these statements and more.

If your baby is pretty well, and pretty good and cries very little, you may think it an all-round good baby. But if you bring it to the contest, you will learn how it can be made a perfectly well baby, a baby who does not cry except when actually hurt—an all-round better and best baby.

That is what better babies contests are for. The babies are entered just as they used to be at the old fashioned baby shows. But there are the similarity stops. For at the better babies contest, physicians examined the babies for physical and mental development, enter their records on better babies standard score cards and advise parents as to how the condition of the babies can be improved.

When this is all over, the judges step in and award prizes to the babies making the highest score, and other doctors tell mothers how to get the babies who did not win prizes into fine condition for the next contest. It's the most cheering and hopeful contest imaginable and even the babies seem to understand and enjoy it.

CORPS OF GRAVE DIGGERS

Germany Now Bears This Unique Distinction in the World War.

(By United Press.)

Brussels, Aug. 14.—The German army is the only one engaged in the European war having a special corps of grave diggers accompanying the troops in the field. The grave diggers corps was formed during the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. All German soldiers wear around their necks a label bearing their name, rank and regiment.

MAY SHIP APPLES FOR THE SHOW NOW

Growers Receive Word That Indiana Refrigerating Company Will Keep Them in Storage.

CATALOGUES BY OCTOBER 1

According to letters which have been received by Rush county apple growers from Benjamin W. Douglas, of Trevlas, Ind., superintendent of the Indiana apple show, the promoters of the show have made arrangements with the Indiana Refrigerating company of Indianapolis to store fruit for the apple show without cost. Farmers who contemplate making a display at the apple show may ship their apples just as soon as they are picked and not run the risk of them rotting between the time of picking and the show.

Mr. Douglas advises that growers ship their apples in boxes or barrels, not baskets, and that each apple be wrapped in several sheets of paper to avoid bruising. A single bruise will disqualify an otherwise perfect specimen. The final premium list and catalogue will be issued about the first of October.

Claim of French War Office Regarding Fighting at Vosges

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 14.—Fighting of the fiercest character in the passes of the Vosges where the Germans have been making a vain attempt to retake the routes lost to the French invaders last Sunday, is reported by the war office. The French military chiefs claim a sweeping victory for the French troops and that an entire German division, surrounded in the mountains, was compelled to surrender after a brisk engagement in which many were killed.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Try this! Mix Sage Tea and Sulphur and brush it through your hair, taking one strand at a time.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

FACTS and FICTION

Experiences of Rushville Citizens are Easily Proven to be Facts

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Rushville is true. Read it and compare evidence from Rushville people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Rushville endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. Fourth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I suffered for quite awhile from weakness in my back. I had a dull pain over my kidneys, often accompanied by headaches. The simplest of my household duties was distressing. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson & Co's Drug Store and used them. They proved their merit by relieving me."

LARGE PIECE OF PLASTERING FALLS

Ceiling of Corridor on Third Floor of Court House is Believed Unsafe as Mishap Proved.

CHANDELIER IS TORN DOWN

The ceiling on the corridor of the third floor of the court house under the large dome is believed unsafe and unless the commissioners make the necessary repair sooner someone is likely to be killed or seriously injured by falling plaster. This afternoon a large piece of plaster paris weighing several hundred pounds fell to the floor. The plaster paris was in a form used in the decorating and fell a distance of ten or twelve feet.

The plastering fell in one large piece and took a chandelier off the wall. The piece fell just at the head of the stairs. The crash was heard all over the court house and men in the offices rushed out, thinking that the roof was falling in. Several other large pieces of plastering are ready to fall and large cracks are noticeable all through the ceiling and side walls.

ITALY IS OUT WITH WARNING TO TURKEY

Will Not Allow German Warships, Reported to Have Been Bought, Used in Mediterranean.

TURKEY SAID TO OWN VESSELS

(By United Press.)

London, Aug. 14.—Italy intends to warn Turkey that the German warships Goeben and Breslau must not be used in the Mediterranean, according to a news dispatch reaching here from Rome today. The two German ships are now in the Dardanelles and are reported to have been purchased by Turkey.

A news agency dispatch from Paris stated that the Goeben and Breslau arrived in the Dardanelles flying the Turkish flag. The German fittings of the warships were reported to have been dismantled.

Two German Cruisers, Badly Battered, Enter port at Hong Kong—Details Are Refused.

Tokio, Aug. 14.—That the German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau have been in battle at sea with either the English cruisers Minotaur and Hampshire or the French cruisers Duplex and Montcalm is indicated by reports from Hong Kong that two badly battered cruisers have entered that port. The Censor refuses to permit details to be communicated but as they entered Hong Kong harbor they must be either French or English and those named above are known to have been searching for the German cruisers for several days.

Doubly Censored Dispatch from Berlin Today Assert Stories are Without Foundation

THEIR LOSSES ANTICIPATED

Fact That Movement Toward Paris Proceeds Indicates, Germans Say That Reports Are Untrue

Berlin, Aug. 13.—(Delayed and Doubly Censored)—The German advance is proceeding as planned. Whatever losses the army has sustained in the operations on the French border and in Belgium, were anticipated.

The German forward movement continues along the very lines selected by the general staff. It was expected that there would be losses but the very fact that the forward movement proceeds and that the army is pushing on towards Paris, shows that the claims that the great German disasters are unfounded.

French and Belgian prisoners of war are being sent to the concentration camps. No details of the army positions are known and the information regarding the fighting already in progress is confined to meagre official bulletins in which facts concerning forces engaged and positions attacked are withheld.

So severe is the censorship that the location of all regiments is known only to the war office and the members of the general staff.

TALKS TO "BIG BUSINESS'

President Wilson Meets With Representatives Today.

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—Greeting "big business representatives this afternoon during the recess of the treasury foreign trade conference, President Wilson at the white house told them he believed the crisis in America has passed. He also declared that from this spirit of common efforts in a great national cause will come something worth while for the future.

"We have been face to face with a very critical circumstance," the president said, "but I believe that time has now passed and that the period of steady sensible concerted action has come."

OF COURSE, MISS "RUSHVILLE" HAS NOT LEAST INTEREST IN THE CRUEL WAR

She is Not Worrying Even Though Cosmetics Are Raising in Price Very Steadily.

MUCH OF THEM ARE IMPORTED

Miss "Rushville" does not care for the cruel war, it is quite true. It makes no difference to her if the different peoples of Europe want to jump at one another's throats.

"War is terrible, to say the least, and I don't like to think of such stupid things," says the charming miss as she arches her eyebrows, penciled a little perhaps, curves her cupid's bow mouth, the lips of which it must be confessed are just a trifle bit more violent in color than nature designed them, and wreathes her "peaches and cream" complexion in a delicious smile.

Not to intimate, of course, that Miss "Rushville," nor yet indeed, Mrs. "Rushville," are addicted to the use of vulgar paint. Well, anyone would say not, but—A little discreet application of a lip stick and a delicate touch of rouge over a cheek treatment of cold cream does add so to one's look, and the men do get so particular some times nowadays.

According to her own confession, Miss "Richmond" can not concern herself much in the war, yet when Father "Rushville" pays the druggist next month, he will experience a start and wonder how many girls he has been supplying paint for.

For milady's cosmetics have increased in price all the way from 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. as a direct result of the war. Most of the toilet waters, perfumes, sachet powders, lip sticks, rouge and even face powders used by our American women come from France and Germany.

But this is not all. Almost all of the dapper dressmakers and designers of Paris have gone to war leaving only the old men of the profession to supply the Yankee ladies with their exquisite imported French scenery.

Many a poor, "cokehead" will experience a hard winters unless the big struggle is brought to a quick close. Cocaine has increased in price 75 per cent. "Dope" of all sorts will be immeasurably higher because the vast majority of these drugs are imported from Germany.

An advance is reported on all drugs imported from across the water. Those used as narcotics such as hypodermis, codeine, diacetyl. morphine, diacetyl heroin and morphine atrophine, are all for more expensive.

Druggists fear they will be cut off from many tinctures and fluid extracts used in the manufacture of drugs because of the trouble in Germany for much of this supply is imported from Germany. Such fluids as buchu, ergot and aconite, which are used in many prescriptions also have made a great advance in price.

The American Steel and Wire company has filed suit against James T. Irvine, on a note and account, demanding $1014.56.

Straws and Straws

The straws continue to roll in until there are several stacks by this time showing the trend of the political sentiment. The state-wide primary in Ohio, Tuesday of this week proved the practical elimination of the Progressive party as a political factor just as did the state-wide primary in Kentucky August 1.

Both in Kentucky and Ohio, as elsewhere in primaries, registrations and special elections have revealed. the Progressive vote is disappearing. In Kentucky, where the Progressives had a full slate of candidates, less than three thousand votes were cast in the whole state.

The really surprising feature of the Ohio primary was that the Republican vote in that state, in which Wilson received 223,152 votes, Taft 277,066 and Roosevelt 229,327 votes in 1912, greatly exceeded the democratic vote, while the Progressive vote practically disappeared, demonstrating the disappearance of the party as a factor in Ohio politics. In Hamilton county, for instance, the Republican vote reached nearly 23,000, while the Democratic vote only about 10,000, and the Progressive vote 500. At Cleveland the Republicans cast 20,000 votes, while the Progressive vote slipped from 33,824 in 1912 to 2,000, the Democrats polling 15,000 votes. This was an increase of 6,000 in the Republican vote over 1912, and a slip of 30,000 in the Democratic vote.

The Republicans were handicapped by a decision of Secretary of State Graves that 1912 Progressive voters could not vote in the Republican primary. This kept from the polls thousands of Progressives, it is estimated, who otherwse would have turned out and voted the Republican ticket, and it is evident that many voted the Republican ballet despite the ruling of the secretary of state.

Commenting on these returns the Muncie Press says, this being exactly in line wth the result of every electon, primary and registration held in the country since 1912, with the single exception of the race for governor of Massachusetts in 1913, it is now time for Senator Beveridge and his organs to start up the whine that the infamous Republican politicians are misrepresenting the condition of the Progressive party which has its full quota of generals, colonels and captains, and is lacking in nothing but a rank and file.

By the way, in Massachusetts, the one place in which the Progressive did make a showing in 1912, the Republicans were far in the lead on every office except governor, the 1913 candidate for governor has declined to run again, and the Progressive state organization has gone broke and is paying out at fifty cents on the dollar. So it is really a shame to mention that exception.

When Senator Beveridge and the Indiana Shaferpapers pull the 1912 election figure and talk about that representing the present status of the Progressive party they are evidently assuming that the people they are addressing are a bunch of ignoramuses who do not read the newspapers and therefore have no idea of what has been happening in this country in the last eighteen months. This might go in Santo Domingo, but not in Indiana. The fact is that the Bull Moose bosses know the real situation themselves, but are merely counting on roping in enough dupes to put friend Taggart and his crowd over the line in November, as per contract.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Acts of Ommission.

(Kokomo Tribune.)

It has been noticeable recently that the Indianapolis Star shies at reports of returns from legalized state-wide primary election. Readers of that newspaper, therefore, will be not greatly surprised to find that in its report of the Ohio primary election held Tuesday the Star omits mention of the fact that the progressive party participated in the voting in that important primary election. From the Cincinnati Enquirer one may learn that there were precious few progressive votes cast. the number being indefinitely given as "a few thousand" in the entire state. Possibly on this understanding, that the vote was quite too small to be worth reporting, the Star may be justified in side-stepping the disagreeable subject and saying nothing. In a few days the full returns will be officially determined and it is possible the Star may by that time have acquired sufficient courage to tell the truth about it.

Hugh Th. Miller.

(The Batesville Tribune.)

Hugh Th. Miller, Republican candidate for United States senator, is a man possessed of those sterling qualities that inspire confidence and win respect. In all his relations in life he has practiced rather than preached the doctrine of the "square deal."

The writer served two terms in the State Senate while Mr. Miller presided over the body. No fairer presiding officer ever held the gavel or decided parlimentary questions in that or any other body. A Republican in the strictest and best sense of that term, he never took advantage of his position to discriminate against a Democrat or to favor a Republican because of his political affiliations.

Every Democrat in the senate respected him for his impartiality and acknowledged his ability as a presiding officer.

Should Hugh Th. Miller be elected to the United States Senate by the voters of Indiana, the people will have an able representative in the highest legislative body in the world, a man of clean life, public and private, a scolary gentleman, fearless, honest, upright, broadminded and true to his conceptions of right. Mr. Miller deserves the confidence and merits the support of the voters of Indiana.

TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 5

Republican Senatorial Convention Will be Held at Greenfield.

A. L. Riggs, Republican county chairman, has received word that the joint senatorial convention to nominate a Republican candidate for state senator for the senatorial district comprised of Rush, Fayette and Hancock counties, will be held at Greenfield Saturday, September 5. Greenfield was selected as the meeting place by the county chairman some time ago. Township conventions will be held a week from tomorrow, August 22, to name delegates to the convention.

C. L. Hutchins, a state sanitary inspector, in company with George T. Melle, inspector at Newcastle, visited Spiceland Thursday and pronounced the general sanitary condition of the town as being good. They found little or nothing to criticise.

Complaints have been made in Knightstown about the water supply there. Dr. Jean Holloway, city health officer, has had the water examined at the office of the state chemist and it has been found to be pure. The water supply is coming directly from the wells and not the reservoir.

The real estate belonging to the late John S. Lacky, of Cambridge City, will be sold at auction, on the premises, Tuesday, August 18.

GIVES FACTS ON LIGHTNING RODS

Familiar Figure of Agent Will Soon Disappear if Advise of Experts is Observed

WARNS AGAINST PEDDLERS

Fancy Construction is Not Necessary—Goat Raising in U. S. Has Proved Success

(By United Press.)

Washington, August 14.—The lightning rod peddler, familiar figure in every rural community, with his hocus pocus tales of the efficiency of rods tipped with gold or pointed with Platinum,will soon belong to an extinct type, if information on lightning rods published by the Department of Agriculture is thoroughly circulated.

Answering ten questions about lightning rods, the department says: "For ordinaly purposes good protection is afforded by a conductor along the ridge of the building and extending to the earth, either at the middle of the sides, or, preferably, at each of the four corners. Points should rise above any prominent features of the building, such as chimneys, or in the absence of these features, from the ridge of the roof at intervals of 25 feet or thereabous.

"In order to make lightning rods really efficient, it is important that they be of good material, properly installed and properly grounded in moist earth. Periodical inspection and maintenance in good condition is also indispensible. Lightning rods naturally increase the danger of a building being struck but a properly rodded house may be struck several times without injury, whereas a single stroke to an unprotected house may cause its destruction.

Lightning rods should be put up without insulators. Expensive gilded or platinum points are absolutely unnecessary. Fancy construction of lightning rods will avail nothing when struck by a real flash. The useful qualities lightning rods should possess are infusibility under prolonged exposure to the weather.

"Stout bluntly-pointed iron rods, three eights or one-half inch in diameter rigidly and securely fastened so as to project one and a half to two feet above the structure to which they are attached satisfy all requirements.

"Iron makes a good lightning rod, especially from the viewpoint of cost, but copper or aluminum make better conductors though more costly."

"The Department warns buyers against lightning rod peddlers who try to sell a system of underground lightning rods. Rods should be effectively connected with the earth.

Goat raising is a demonstrated success in the United States, the Department of Agriculture believes.

The industry is said to be so well established that no inconvenience will be felt in this country from the action of the South African government in prohibiting exportation of Angoras. The best American fleeces now equal those in South Africa and Asia.

Nearly every state now has its goat flocks but they thrive best in the Northwest. The department encourages their raising on the theory that not only are they a source of profit but that they clear away under brush which if allowed to grow unchecked would become a fire menace.

Declaring that experience of dairy farmers indicate increased milk production where cows are fed silage, the Department of Agriculture has just issued a statement to encourage the use of siles.

Silage is the best and cheapest form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use, the bulletin says.

An acre of grain can be placed in the sile at a cost not exceeding that of the shocking, hucking, grinding and shredding. Crops can be put in the sile during weather that cannot be used in making or curing fodder.

A given amount of corn in the form of silage will produce more milk than the same when shocked and dried.

Good silage, properly fed, is ali consumed and in addition very profitable and palatable. Like other succulent feed it has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs of animals.

PROBLEM IS FACED BY CITY OFFICIALS

How to Care for Stranded Americans When They Reach New York Must be Answered

NEW YORK COMMITTEE READY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 14.—How to care for stranded Americans, when they arrive in America, was the problem which administration officials and William H. Hamilton, Jr., representing Mayor Mitchel of New York, discussed today.

The New York citizens' committee stands ready to give relief to any needy refuges but Hamilton today sought to find out whether Secretary of the Treasury, McAdoo, preferred that National government disburse its own relief money.

POSTOFFICE FIGHT SPLITS THE DISTRICT

Congressman Lincoln Dixon is in Sorry Plight Because of Fusses Over Appointments.

9 COMMITTEEMEN RESIGN

Seymour, Ind., Aug. 14.—The Democratic party throughout this congressional district has been split in an artistic manner by the postoffice fights that developed in every community in the district. Congressman Lincoln Dixon is finally beginning to wake up to the fact that postoffice fights have broken as good men as ever went to Congress, even where the distributor of patronage was fortified with a seemingly unbeatable plurality. The situation here is a sample. Recently, as a result of a bitter contest over the local postoffice, nine members of the Democratic county central committee resigned. The Democratic county chairman, on the day on which their successors were to be chosen, spent the whole day in Seymour drumming up a crowd and when the meeting was called to order in the evening just 21 men were present. A number of men who were drafted to act as committeeman were not at the meeting.

DOESN'T ALTER DETERMINATION

Grain Exporters Refuse to Ship Despite Assurances from British Admiralty

THAT SEA LINES ARE CLEAR

Seizers of Cargoes of Wheat Already Reported and They Will Take no Chances

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 14.—Official assurances from the British admiralty that sea lines to Europe are clear of German ships did not serve to alter the determination of American grain exporters not to ship grain to England. As explained by a committee of the grain exporters, the situation is as follows:

Liverpool firms hold contracts from Americans for huge supplies of wheat, sold on prices current before the war declaration.

All grain consigned in fulfillment of these contracts is seized by the British government.

The small number of ships still sailing charge exorbitant rates and the insurance risk is at a high record.

The committee has advised cancellation of all contracts, since it is apparent the grain never reaches its consignees; is taken by the government at its own price and a price which does not compensate the shipper for his expenses.

Seizure of six cargoes of wheat has already been reported to the exporters and so far there is nothing to indicate that the owners will ever receive the money from the British government.

A committee of grain men will confer with Secretary McAdoo in Washington tomorrow. They seek a pledge from Great Britain exacted through the state department, either to permit consignees to receive cargoes or that the shippers will be adequately compensated if the grain is taken by the government.

Caoncellation of contracts is being made by America firms on the basis of a clause automatically terminating the contract in the event that hostilities prevent shipment The British firms claim that hostilities have not halted commerce, in view of the admiralty statement and are demanding fulfillment. American exporters face heavy penalties in British admiralty courts if those tribunals take the same view as the British grain men.

Canadian ports are still open and commerce is officially reported as unmolested by German war craft.

Velvet Is All Rage In Fashion World at This Time of Year

With Fashions and Love to fill our minds,
Wars and suffrage and strikes seem petty;
So Betty smiles in her basque of black—
And I bask in the smiles of Betty.

(By United Press.)

New York, August 14:—The black basque plays as important a part in the sartorial make up of the dainty maid who follows the Fashions as the black masque in the sartorial make up of the taking person who follows the dark lantern and the jimmy.

Preferably and almost invariably of black velvet, this newest basque is worn with a fluffy and many flounced skirt of white organdie or batiste. Often the skirt while it has an organdie foundation breaks out in flounces of either tulle or chiffon. Delicate orchid and sweet pea tints are also used for these skirts as well as the all white and the effect of many ruffles bursting out below the close sheath of rich black velvet basque is charming enough to compensate for the rather obvious discomforts of such apparel on a midsummer day.

As a concession to the heat, variations of these basques are shown developed in either black taffeta or black satin but they lack that indescribable air of chic of the velvet brand. Hence they are not much favored by the fashionably elect who have long since bowed to the inexorable mandate of the mode that one cannot be truly smart and comfortable all at the same time.

The velvet basque is always low of neck and long of sleeve and buttoned either up the front or back with invisible bullet buttons. On some of them sheer roll collars of organdie or a tulle frill softens the effect about the throat.

The run on velvet is by no means confined to the basque. Already the all velvet hat saucy and perky in its miniature proportions has ousted the fragile straw from the heads of summer beau ties. So tiny and close fitting are they that they seem inadequately to dispute the prophecy that large chapeaux of picture proportions are coming to the top again ere long. And yet following the immutable law that everything goes the limit before it changes and things are always worse before they are better, this August crop of wee velvet hats may be to prove the rule that they have only gotten smaller to get larger.

The parasol indeed practices being useful as well as ornamental this season of small hats and even they are now being shown in velvet. So you see the mid-summer madness for this rich and lustrous fabric has not only gone to lovely woman's head but over it as well.

There certainly is nothing half way about Fashion and from the extremity of no sleeves at all, or at least none to speak of, the long sleeve is now being the dernier cri. For afternoon and street wear they are absolutely the only permissable sleeves as the total absence of arm covering still holds good for evening toilettes it is simply a case of long sleeves or none. While the velvet and satin basques all show uncompromisingly long tight sleeves of the same materials long sleeves of lace tulle are very smart in combination with the silken bodices of many of the dressy little afternoon frocks of taffeta or crepe. The lingerie gowns are all showing the long sheer sleeves now and a pretty fad is the wearing of a circlet of tiny rosebuds or some other small artificial flowers between the elbow and the shoulders to peep through the mist of lace or tulle. Bracelets of sparkling jewels are also given a welcome haven in like position and many are the fortunes in gems that one fair maid is thus enabled to keep up her sleeve.

As a sort of reaction against the multi-colored strands of beads that have all summer decorated the bosoms of both Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady, that latter personage is now going in exclusively for strands of pearls. Real or otherwise stringe of these luminous tear-like jewels show to best advantage atop the background of the black velvet basque and contrary to the long accepted decree that pearls before breakfast were as bad as pearls before swine, pearls are now being proudly flaunted in the face of tradition and the rosy dawn.

The present penchant for the chaste pearl has by no means completely done for the beads of many color, however. As brilliant beaded bands for dress trimming, and as fringe and garnishment on purses and bags of silk and velvet they will fulfill a different but an equally prominent sphere this fall and winter.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backachy or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DEFINITE IDEA OF POSITION NOW

Germans Concentrate Most of Field Troops Along 75 Mile Line From Liege to Treves

HAVE APPROXIMATELY 900,000

Three Possible Ways of Entering France Exists—France's Alsacian Advance Halted

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press).

New York, Aug. 14.—It is possible now to form a fairly definite idea of the relative positions of the two great armies facing each other over the borders of Belgium and Luxemburg. The Germans have concentrated most of their field troops probably about 900,000 combatants along a seventy-five mile line running from Liege to the entrance into Luxemburg at Treves.

For this army three possible ways of entering France exist. It can make its left wing advance guard and proceed via Luxemburg, or it can move its center forward and reach France between the Meuse river and Luxemburg or finally, it can adhere to its original plan of crossing Belgium and emerging west of Lille.

The probability is that the last way is the route that will be taken but the French staff general cannot know this for a certainty. This gives the German forces a strategic advantage. Not knowing positively where the huge massed attack will be delivered the allies must guard the three possible approaches, compelling them to distribute their forces alonge a line of one hundred and fifty miles, twice the length of the German concentration. The position of Germany is comparable to a football eleven holding the ball for a massed run down the field with three goals before them, any one of which they may select as their objective.

Suggestions are made that the Germans may move through Belgium toward Waterloo and Brussels with their whole first line strength without subduing Liege and Namur. Such an advance would be justified only if Germany were the victor in the titantic battle that would follow on Belgian soil.

If the kaiser's forces were broken and were compelled to retreat the retirement across the Meuse river in face of the Liege and Namur forts supported by the secondary defenses at Huy, would probably develope into a disaster.

The alternative to this line of retreat would be an invasion of Holland with all the possibilities of military and diplomatic complications thus entailed.

It is not necessary for Germany to capture Liege and Namur before her troops can proceed. The possibility of a retreat is the point of consideration that is compelling the Germans to delay for precious days at the Meuse river.

France's advance through Alsace has doubtless been halted by the tremendous massing of German's forces in the North. The French hold an area of perhaps one hundred and fifty square miles in Southern Alsace. It has no military value for them, but the sentimental effect of retaining a foothold in the lost province will be felt wherever the rival armies clash.

The clearing of the Atlantic steamship line of hostile German warships by the French and English within a fortnight is a demonstration of high naval efficiency. The distance across the Atlantic is about the same as the distance from New York to San Francisco. Imagine the difficulties that would confront a dozen or so motorcars with an average speed of 20 to twenty-five miles an hour trying to keep three or four other motorcars from holding up transcontinental trains.

BLOODLESS BATTLE OFF SANDY HOOK

British Cruiser Name Unknown, Flee Before Bombardment From Several Batteries.

SEVERAL BROADSIDES SENT

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 14.—Extra—British warship routed in battle off Sandy Hook!

It was a bloodless fight, but a British cruiser, name not definitely known, turned tail and fled before a little puffing tug and a battery of six inch rapid fire cameras which sent broadside at the fighting ship.

The story was told here today by moving picture photographsers who hired a tug and went in search of the mysterious war craft yesterday. They found her after considerable search twenty miles southeast of Ambrose channel lightship. She was declared for action steaming lazily along on her patrol when the camera tug slipped up and opened fire. Sailors on deck shouted a greeting at the camera men. But when officers saw the battery firing away, they ordered steam up and with smoke pouring from her funnels, the war ship put off. The picture men alleged that sailors shouted over the side that their ship was the Essex. Her name plate was covered, however.

HIS CAMPAIGN BEARING FRUIT

Preliminary Reports Show Many Increases in Price Over Country are Unwarranted

SOME BELIEVED ILLEGAL

President Wilson Hears From Several District Attorneys and Special Agents Today

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug 14.—President Wilson's campaign against "rapid and unwarranted increase in prices of foodstuffs upon the pretext of conditions in Europe" bore early frint today.

Preliminary reports from United States District Attorneys and department of justice special agents declaring many price increases speculative, unjustifiable and some bearing elements of illegal conspiracy subject to anti-trust law prosecution began to pour in by telegraph upon the attorney general.

Within a week or ten days McReynolds expects to be able to submit the report, requested in the president's letter yesterday, whether immediate resort to the courts shall be taken or a further investigation be made jointly by the departments of justice, commerce and agriculture.

Supplemental instructions regarding the price inquiry were issued today. It was reported that scrutiny was ordered particularly of activities of combined wholesalers and commission men, such as live stock and grain exchanges, produce and poultry exchanges, butter and egg markets, fruit exchanges, vegetable "unions" and cold storage houses.

Reports that meat, eggs, butter, cheese and poultry dealers were deliberately creating an artificial "famine" by storing in cold storage warehouses were received.

START BOYCOTT ON FOOD TODAY

Members of Illinois Woman's Democratic Club Takes Summary Actions Because of High Prices.

BUTCHERS ARE UP IN ARMS

Demand of Congress Legislation to Punish Speculating in Food Products

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Aug. 14.—A boycott of all meats and other food articles whose prices were advanced apparently without warrant, was launched today by the Illinois Woman's Democratic Club. The boycott movement is expected to be approved at a housewives mass meeting Tuesday night as a weapon in the campaign for lower food prices.

The Chicago Master Butchers' Association today made public resolutions it directed against the packers. The butchers called upon congress to place a ten per cent duty on export meat and demanded legislation providing fines and imprisonment for persons speculating in food products.

"The meat packers virtually admitted that meat prices have been inflated" declared John T. Russell, president of the United Master Butchers of America, today. "After boosting pork prices five to sevn seven cents in one week, they suddenly reduced them, not because of any decided drop in hog prices, but because the butchers refused to buy."

United States District Attorney Wilkerson will arrive tomorrow to open a probe into the action of the packers and food wholesalers.

RESERVISTS CALLED HOME

Italy's Army Will Reserve Her Declared Neutrality

Kaiser and Czar Hats Are Placed on Market By Hustling Milliners

One of the largest millinery importers in the country has introduced the Czar and the Kaiser hats, although it has only been about ten days since the war was declared. Both styles are of military aspect, the former in a "tete de nergre"—brown velvet with a novelty prompon of brown feathers held at the top with a brown rose. A trimming of gold cloth around the hat preitily ornaments the front. The Kaiser is a helmet shape with a high trimming of heckle feather breast directly in front and bands of silver. The Czar is of brown and gold, and the Kaiser is in black and silver.

The war will make a difference in milady's millinery. A representative of an importing millinery house, of Cleveland, O., says it will depend on whether goods can be imported. French novelties can be imported usually for less money. A great part of millinery, both hats and trimming, can be made in this country.

Black and white, silver and gold, will lead. They have begun a new feature in headwear early in the seasons, the black velvet hat having made its appearance while Mr. Thermometer was well up in the nineties.

The first importations for the fall have been in this country since early July. All of the importing houses send the new millinery attractions as fast as they appear in Paris, and the other famous centers. This, of course, is when conditions are normal. It is doubtful whether foreign millinery can be brought over now. Should the war continue long, there is no doubt that prices will be higher, and hats will bear the mark of "Made in America."

The hats are of varying sizes, though none of them are the enormous frames that have prevailed in former years. Dress hats of pale pink or citron—a yellow—and blue are trimmed with white camelias. The black velvet hats have for a novelty a simple trimming of two white love birds, with their heads entwined and the tails extending far to the right and to the left over the brim.

America may have to depend, both for material and styles, on the genius of its own people. The gold and silver metal cloths that are the first reigning sucresses of the season, as well as the velvets and many other things, can be made in this country, though they are usually at a higher cost than the ones that come from abroad.

Milady can have her fall headwear, for it is already in America.

NO IMPORTANT MOVEMENT MADE IN EUROPEAN WAR

Private houses are being turned into hospitals and schoolhouses and meeting halls are also used. The German losses at Healen, Tirlemont, Noville-Taviers and Eghzee are declared by the war office to have exceeded 10,000 in killed and wounded along with more than 5,000 taken prisoners.

It is already plain that the German commanding generals are not considering the human equation in their operations. They are sacrificing men like flies. Massed columns are being pushed forward everywhere in the effort to "feel out" the Belgian front and they have been mowed down like wheat by the Belgian rapid fire guns, served with wonderful accuracy.

But the German advance persists. Forced to retreat at one point, the forward movement is renewed at another and with an army as enormous as the German it is only a question of time when the Belgian resistance must be crushed.

This is the big thing for which preparations are being made. The French and British armies, whose numbers and whereabouts are known only to the Belgian general staff will take up the defense of Belgium as the first line of defense is penetrated, as now seems certain. That this army is in Belgium now is known. Its location can be guessed but no information concerning it will be passed by the censor. Yet the war office says that "it will give an excellent account of itself" and couples it with the announcement that "Brussels is now safe from capture."

Liege forts are holding out and the latest word from them is that the Germans have apparently entirely abandoned the plan of carrying them by storm. The city of Liege is quiet with the Belgian flag flying from the town hall and the German troops inside of the city are aided in their patrol by the Liege police, who have been ordered by the burgomaster to obey German orders.

The Germans have been handicapped in their efforts to reduce the Liege forts by the wonderful accuracy of the defenders. Every foot of the territory within gun range of the forts has been mapped. Each fort commander has these charts and the tables of ranges. As a result every time that the Germans have succeeded in mounting a heavy siege gun within range it has been demolished by the fusillade of heavy metal from the threatening fort. The Germans have now mounted their guns in trenches along the line of the Meuse. The advancing column which was cut to pieces by the Belgians had been sent from Huy which is held by the Germans, having been captured by a cavalry division supported by mounted artillery.

The Belgian victory was made possible by the air scouts. They had reported the German advance and the Belgian commander had mounted his machine guns in position to rake the entire country outside of Eghezee. Entanglements had been constructed with felled trees and barbed wire along all of the roads and across the fields and the fire of the Belgians was reserved until the Germans had encountered these onstables. The Germans were trapped and while they were vainly trying to break through the line they were subjected to a murderous fire from the Belgian lines. The few Germans who managed to break through were unable to penetrate the Belgian line and when the Belgians assumed the offensive and charged the German force was utterly routed being forced to abandon its machine guns, in its flight.

KAISER LOOKS FOR MORE ALLIES

Makes Supreme Effort in Courts of Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania to Get Help

BALKANS WILL BE DRAWN IN

Partial Mobilization by Bulgaria May Cause Trouble—Reserves Called to Colors

BY HENRY WOOD

Rome, Aug 12. (delayed)—The Kaiser is making a supreme effort in the courts of Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania to have these nations side with Germany and Austria in the present war. This is admitted in official circles here where the negotiations of the kaiser's representatives are being closely followed.

That the Balkans must inevitably be drawn into the war is considered certain here. But it is unlikely that they will line up entirely for the kaiser. Greece and Turkey must inevitably fight but the latter will range itself on the side of the kaiser while Greece will aid England.

Partial mobilization ordered by Bulgaria may cause trouble. It has proclaimed a state of siege and the reserves are being called to the colors. The Czar, however, is endeavoring to keep Bulgaria out of the fighting and may succeed.

The situation here in Italy is acute. The anti-Austrain feeling continues to increase but the government insists that it will continue neutral. The cabinent is in almost constant session and the army and navy are mobilized.

Food prices have advanced rapidly and many manufacturing establishments have been closed down. The suffering among the poorer classes is intense and the government is now considering plans of relief.

WAS NOT GUILTY.

James Clore was found not guilty of the charge of provoke before Squire Kratzer yesterday afternoon. The charge was filed by Jesse Johnson, who lives on the Clore farm. He alleges that Clore talked in a rude manner to his wife, but the squire could find no evidence of any attempted provoke.
